Addresses Congress

Westmoreland Demands Unrelenting War Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress today the only strategy that can defeat the Communist enemy in Vietnam "is one of unrelenting military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — at all levels."

This appeared a call for increased escalation, possibly including broadened bombing of North Vietnam and commitment of more U.S. troops to battle Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Personal Report

In an unprecedented personal report to Congress by a war commander, Westmoreland described U.S. forces as "unbeatable" and said they have been successful in destroying Communist main force units.

He said, "I can assure you here and now that the Communist strategem called 'war of national liberation' will not succeed in Vietnam."

But while speaking of a "hopeful state of affairs," the U.S. commander in Vietnam sought to dispel any idea that the Communists are near collapse.

In considerable detail, Westmoreland pictured for a joint meeting of House and Senate an enemy who has doubled his strength despite heavy battle losses, whose commanders are skilled professionals, whose troops are well trained whose primitive supply system is surprisingly effective.

"Dramatic Blow"
"I foresee that he will continue his buildup across the demilitarized zone and through Laos, and he will attack us when he believes he has a chance for a dramatic blow," the general predicted.

"I expect the enemy to continue to increase his mortar, artillery, rocket and recoilless rifle attacks on our installations. At the same time he will step up his attacks at hamlet, village and district organizations to intimidate the people and to thwart the democratic processes now under way in South Vietnam."

Car, Flatbed Truck Collide at Junction; Four Hospitalized

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Richard F. Esser, 38, of rural Arpin, and Carl Delis, 46, of rural Marshfield were killed and four other persons were injured in a car-truck collision in Wood County Thursday afternoon.

In poor condition at a Marshfield hospital were Walter Delis, 67, and his wife Beatrice. In serious condition were Kendall Delis, 3, and Joseph Esser, 2.

Wood County sheriff's authorities said a flatbed truck driven by Esser and the Delis car collided at the intersection of Wood County Trunk T and State 110 five miles southeast of Marshfield.

Both vehicles were carried over a rocky embankment. Patricia Healy, 10, rural Frederic, was killed Thursday when she was struck by a truck while crossing Polk County Trunk I in front of her school in the town of Bone Lake.

13-Member Task Force

Dr. Tarr to Head Shared Tax Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, president of Lawrence University in Appleton, today was chosen to head a 13-

1969, the Legislature decided recently over the objections of the mayors in the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities, who had hoped for some redistribution of state taxes in their favor by the present Legislature.

A less publicized but equally important part of the Legislature's mandate to the study committee is a review of the organization of local government, and the possibility of making it a more efficient structure through the elimination of some of its smaller units.

The Tarr committee will have the authority to hire assistants and consultants. In political circles its work is regarded as likely to have the political importance of the so-called "blue ribbon" commission which wrote a program for the revision of the state revenue structure six years ago.

Named by Knowles to the Tarr committee are Mrs. A. Roy Anderson, Madison, League of Women Voters; John Jachomo, Cudahy, vice president, State AFL-CIO; Judge Thomas H. Barland, Eau Claire; Norman Gull, Milwaukee, executive director, Citizens' Governmental Research Bureau; Emil Koster, Thorp, president of Thorp Finance Co.; Richard Lorit, River Falls, vice president, Wisconsin State University-River Falls; C. K. Alexander, Madison, vice president, Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance; and James R. Morgan, state tax commissioner.

Kellett Bill Passed by Senate on 18-12 Vote

Oleo Repealer With Tax Set For Senators

5 1/4-Cent Levy Still on Bill, May Not Last

MADISON (AP) — Senate leaders have decided to accept a 5 1/4 cents a pound tax on colored oleomargarine rather than imperil prospects for repeal of Wisconsin's historic ban on the butter substitute.

The final struggle is slated to start Tuesday on the Senate floor. By nightfall Wednesday, the repeal bill may be on its way to the governor's desk for signature into law.

The Assembly tacked on the tax-with-a-fraction two weeks ago in passing the repealer 67-30. Senate strategists are driving for repeal without any change in the wording of the bill to avoid entangling the measure between the two houses.

A separate bill is pending in the Senate to allow sale of colored oleomargarine without any tax. Senate Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, said Turn to Page 6, Col. 2

Gets Life Sentence

Coppolino Found Guilty

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino was convicted of second degree murder today in the drug murder of his wife Carmela. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Coppolino sat expressionless with his head in his hands as the verdict was delivered at 9:25 a.m. after less than four hours of jury deliberation.

Mary Coppolino, the wealthy divorcee he married after Carmela's death, also sat expressionless in a front row seat just behind her husband at the defense table.

Asks New Trial

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey moved immediately for a new trial and said if the motion were denied the case would be appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

After the jury foreman, 48-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

The defeat was a stunning one for Bailey, the dynamic, 33-year-old Boston defender who sprang into national prominence when he gained a new trial that freed Dr. Sam Sheppard.

The judge ordered Coppolino taken into custody immediately and delivered to the state penitentiary at Raiford. Bailey vigorously protested the verdict as invalid and illegal and moved that Coppolino be discharged.

"All or Nothing"

"This is obviously the sort of charge where the verdict must be maximum or nothing," said Bailey. "There is no in between. From the allegation of poisoning the second degree conviction cannot stand."

Bailey said Coppolino can never be tried for first degree murder in this case again. By virtue of premeditation, he said, a poisoning case could only result in the conviction of first degree murder.

Bailey said the verdict showed compromise.

The judge denied Bailey's motion to continue Coppolino's $15,000 bail pending an appeal which must be filed within 15 days.

Coppolino, looking gaunt and shocked, conferred briefly with

Bailey and then shook his head when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

Five Verdicts

Silvertooth told the jury it could reach one of five verdicts — conviction of first, second or third degree murder or manslaughter, or an acquittal. A first degree conviction could mean death in the electric chair.

The state accused Coppolino of murdering his first wife Aug. 28, 1965 with an injection of a drug, succinylcholine, to collect her life insurance and to marry a rich divorcee.

The case went to the jury at 5:23 p.m. Thursday after 15 days of complex medical testimony breaking new legal ground in work on detection of the muscle relaxant drug.

The defense, denying that a murder was committed, said the cause of death of Coppolino's wife is unknown.

U. S. Planes Buzz Ships, Soviets Claim

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union charged today that U.S. planes buzzed Soviet ships on one of the sea routes the Russians use to supply aid to North Vietnam.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Soviet captains aboard Soviet ships had radioed reports of the buzzing to the Soviet Black Sea port near the city of Izmail.

Tass said nothing directly about Vietnam. Izmail, however, is a key Soviet port on the Black Sea for shipping aid to Vietnam.

Informed shipping sources in the Soviet Black Sea port of Odessa said earlier this month that military aid from Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union was leaving Izmail by sea for the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

Izmail is about 100 miles southwest of Odessa near the Romanian border at the mouth of the Danube.

Killed in Action

MADISON (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Thompson of Madison have been informed that their son, Army Sp. 4 Leonard D. Thompson, 22, was killed in action Tuesday in Vietnam.

Young Thompson, who had been in Vietnam for seven months, was killed when his tank battalion was ambushed.

Heaviest of War

U.S. Troops Shelled by Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in South Vietnam's embattled northern sector poured artillery, mortar and rocket fire on U.S. and Vietnamese government troops overnight in some of the heaviest enemy shelling of the war.

The U.S. command said 12 American Marines were killed and 180 Marines and seven Army artillerymen were wounded in four attacks. South Vietnamese spokesmen termed their casualties light.

No enemy casualties were reported.

Limited Air Raids
Heavy clouds moved back over much of North Vietnam, limiting air attacks on the North Thursday to 48 missions. All of them were made against targets in the panhandle at the southern end of North Vietnam, sparing the Hanoi-Haiphong area after three days of heavy pounding.

While fighting flared in the northernmost 1st Corps area, the Viet Cong announced they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a.m. May 22 to 7 a.m. May 24 (Saigon time) to mark Buddha's birthday. The Saigon government had said earlier it would cease fire for 24 hours on May 23.

There was no immediate indication whether the South Vietnamese and their allies would agree to the longer cease-fire period.

Despite the lull in the air war, the assault on North Vietnam cost the United States another plane today. An Air Force F4C jet bomber caught fire and exploded as it was rolling down the runway for a bombing mission from Ubon Airbase in northeast Thailand. The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said the plane's two crewmen escaped unhurt but a ground crewman was seriously injured.

The blistering barrages just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam came after weeks of increasing U.S. concern over Communist moves in the five provinces that make up South Vietnam's 1st Corps area.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that one of the attacks on Gio Linh, an allied artillery base one mile south of the DMZ, consisted of 1,100 rounds of 105mm howitzer fire. U.S. spokesmen said an estimated 250 rounds of artillery fire were directed at U.S. positions there plus uncounted rounds of mortar fire.

More Resources
In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

Except for the attacks near the border, no major ground fighting was reported across the country. But the U.S. command agreed to the longer cease-fire period.

Final Action Marks End in 3-Week Fight

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Senate passed the Kellett bill to streamline government 18-12 today.

Approval came on a straight party line vote in the Republican controlled Senate after three weeks of bitter debate.

The passage showdown paralleled the same vote by which Republicans had written into the bill Thursday a key compromise on conservation to smooth the path for approval.

The reorganization blueprint would repack about 90 state agencies into 27 departments and boards starting next July. The crucial question of a full merger of conservation and water agencies would be left up to the 1969 Legislature.

Democrats draped their Senate microphones in black cloth as the compromise was accepted and mapped plans for one last salvo of partisan assault today. But passage appeared certain in advance.

'Affront to Dignity'

The Senate cracked with acrimony over the Democrats' demonstration of mourning. Sen. William Draheim, R-Neenah, accused the minority party of "an affront to the dignity of the Senate."

When Senate Democratic Leader Fred Risser of Madison rose to charge the GOP with "the death of meaningful reorganization," Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, led an abbreviated Republican walk-out.

The main mergers left in the bill would link the Board of Health with the Department of Public Welfare and place the Motor Vehicle Department, the Highway Commission and the Aeronautics Commission in a new department of transportation.

A new board of natural resources would be created as a superstructure over the present conservation and resource development departments, but their rule-making powers would remain untouched. The board would draw up a merger plan to offer to the 1969 Legislature for a final decision.

The Senate was the first house in which the bill was tested. A fierce fight was expected in the Assembly also.

Began March 7
Debate on the bill had begun March 7, but was halted two days later to save the measure from immediate doom. The floor fight resumed April 11 after Gov. Warren P. Knowles made a pleas for passage of the reorganization plan.

The health and welfare merger was preserved on a slim 17-16 vote in the first week. Leonard avoided an outright

Dodd to Seek Re-election Whatever Vote on Censure

Resolution Will Be Considered By Total Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders indicated today the resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will be taken up in about 10 days. Dodd vowed to fight it and, whatever the outcome, to run for a third term in 1970.

The Senate's bipartisan ethics committee unanimously recommended Thursday after a 14-month investigation that the white-haired Connecticut Democrat be censured for financial misconduct.

None of Dodd's colleagues spoke out immediately in his defense, but he was quick to reassert he had done nothing wrong and said he would make a detailed reply to the committee's findings.

In its report to the Senate the panel said Dodd diverted to "his personal purposes" at least $116,083 in politically raised campaign and testimonial funds in the years 1961-65.

Double Billing
It also said that in this same period he collected travel expenses both from the Senate and private organizations for seven trips. It did not list the total amount involved in the double billing.

The proposed resolution of censure declared that in both respects Dodd's conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The committee also requested the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into various aspects of Dodd's activities to determine whether any possible violations of law were involved.

The report and the censure resolution were presented to the Senate by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the six-member ethics panel, as Dodd looked on among only a handful of senators on the floor.

Dodd showed no emotion or loss of composure as Stennis spoke.

Shortly before Stennis rose in the Senate he went by Dodd's office and gave him a copy of the report. Stennis later told a reporter he felt he owed this gesture of courtesy to Dodd.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his guess was that the censure resolution would not be taken up in the Senate until the week of May 7 — partly to give Dodd time to prepare his defense and also in hopes of first clearing away a Senate snarl over a tax bill.

However, Mansfield told a reporter that if necessary the tax measure temporarily would be put aside. He expressed no opinion about the committee's report and declined to speculate on how much debate it might generate.

Dodd told newsmen he has no intention of resigning his Senate seat. And when asked if he would seek re-election in 1970, he replied, "You bet."

"The voters of Connecticut in 1970 will be the best judges of my conduct," he said.

He was asked if he anticipated difficulty in raising campaign funds. "How can I tell you that in 1967?" he asked. "I've always had difficulty in raising money."

Censure deprives a senator of none of his rights and privileges. The only penalty is whatever stigma attaches to the Senate's action.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, the ethics committee's vice chairman, said it decided expulsion would have been too severe a course to recommend in Dodd's case.

Strongest Alternative
"The use of the word censure, which has a traditional meaning in the Senate and which has been used before, was the next strongest alternative open to us," he said.

Dodd, asked if he considered the committee's report harsh, said, "I don't see how it could be more harsh."

He refused to answer when asked if he saw an analogy between the proposed censure and the House vote earlier this year refusing to seat Harlem Democrat Adam Clayton Powell. "I don't pass judgment on others," he said.

Wallace Says He's Defender Of States' Rights, Not Racist

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he's a defender of states' rights, not a racist.

"I have never in my public life made a speech reflecting on the rights of people because of their race, creed, color or religion," he told an audience of Pittsburgh business and professional men last night.

Wallace said that as governor of Alabama he tried to block encroachment by the federal government.

"We don't like it because the federal courts have stepped into every phase of government that should be left to the respective states," he said. "That's all we're talking about — the right of home rule or territorial integrity."

The audience of 1,000 applauded throughout his speech. Some occasionally stood to cheer.

Warmly Greeted
A line of seven or eight men was at the side of the speaker's table throughout the meal earlier. The men had left their $15-a-plate dinners to shake hands with Wallace. The former governor's food, touched only slightly, grew cold as he greeted them.

But Wallace said again in Pittsburgh that he will not decide whether to become a candidate until the end of the year.

Mission Perfect After Delays

All Five Satellites Successfully Launched Into Orbit by Titan 3

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Flying with acrobatic precision, a powerful Titan 3 rocket today successfully orbited three scientific satellites and two robot sentries to police against violations of the nuclear test ban treaty.

"Everything looks very good," an Air Force spokesman reported at 9:21 a.m. after all five satellites sprung free from the booster's last stage.

The five-in-one shot, grounded one week by pesky problems, blasted off at 5:01 a.m. after a perfect countdown. Two strap-on motors licked the early-morning darkness with twin tongues of flame as the Titan 3 shot skyward from Cape Kennedy.

The rocket's last stage, with payloads attached, first darted into a medium-altitude orbit as planned, then re-ignited more than four hours later to kick the payload into a cigar-shaped path ranging from 5,300 to 69,000 miles above the earth—nearly one-third the distance to the moon.

The mighty Air Force rocket — similar to the type that will someday launch astronauts aboard the Defense Department's Manned Orbiting Laboratory — licked the early morning darkness with brilliant plumes of flame from two strap-on booster motors.

Everything Good
"Everything looks good. It's on time and on the line," an Air Force spokesman said as the $20 million payload raced toward its target in space.

Two nuclear-detection satellites, called Velas, were packed aboard the Titan 3 to spot nuclear blasts in earth's atmosphere and deep space, perhaps as far away as Mars.

The new Velas are improved versions of six similar satellites orbited previously to help police the limited test ban treaty signed in 1963 by the United States, the Soviet Union and more than 100 other nations.

The pact prohibits nuclear tests in the atmosphere, under water or in space but allows underground detonations such as one conducted Thursday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada Test Site.

First Male Heir in 116 Years

Dutch Overjoyed At Birth of Prince

UTRECHT, Netherlands (AP) — The jubilant Dutch cheered, drank toasts and declared a school holiday today to celebrate the birth of the first male heir to the throne to be born in 116 years.

The prince, still unnamed, was born to Crown Princess Beatrix Thursday night. Doctors called him a "robust and healthy boy."

Several hundred persons had gathered around the Academic Hospital in Utrecht to await the birth. When it was announced, others poured into the streets, chanting "Orange boven" (Orange up, for the royal house of Orange).

Other crowds tied up traffic in the Hague, seat of the Dutch government.

101-Gun Salute

Church bells rang and cannons boomed 101 times. A girl would have been given only 51 guns.

Queens have reigned in Holland since 1890 and it may be the 21st century before the new prince ascends to the throne. His mother, Beatrix, is expected to take the throne in seven years when her mother, Queen Juliana, reaches age 65. Beatrix is only 28.

Sources at the hospital indicated the delivery was by Caesarean section and took about 30 minutes. A medical bulletin said the condition of the crown princess was satisfactory.

Prof. Willem Paul Plate, who supervised the delivery, said the baby weighed 8 pounds 7 ounces. A nurse said he had black hair.

Unpopular Marriage

Beatrix was married March 10, 1966, to a German, Claus Von Amberg, who was made a prince of the Netherlands. The marriage was unpopular with some Dutchmen because he had served in the German army in the latter part of World War II, when Holland was occupied by the nazis.

By coincidence, a sister of Prince Claus gave birth to a son Thursday in Germany.

Claus and Queen Juliana were at the hospital when the baby was born. Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard, another former German, appeared later on the balcony of the royal palace in Amsterdam and were cheered by hundreds.

Juliana is the only child of the late Queen Wilhelmina, who abdicated in her favor in 1948.

Wilhelmina, who died in 1962, ascended to the throne after her father, King Willem III, died in 1890. Willem also had two sons, but Prince Maurits Alexander died in 1850 and Prince Alexander died in 1884.

Four Daughters

Juliana has four daughters — Beatrix, Irene, 27, Margriet, 24, and Christina, 20. Irene renounced her right of succession when she became a Roman Catholic and married Spanish Prince Carlos de Bourbon-Parma.

The new prince is Juliana's first grandchild. His name will be announced at the official registration of the birth before representatives of the government and the mayor of Utrecht, Dr. J. De Ranitz.

Tradition calls for the father to show the baby to the authorities, either at the Town Hall or the hospital. The official showing may be Saturday or Tuesday.

PTA Hears Vexing Juvenile Problems

Corrections Division Director Talks to State Parley at Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — The Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA) heard pertinent facts about "vexing problems of the mounting rate of crime and delinquency," as Sanger B. Powers, director of the State Division of Corrections, talked at the annual banquet which closed the two-day meeting.

Speaking at Oshkosh High School, Powers asked seven questions beginning with, "Do You Know?"

—That 11,300 offenders are under the jurisdiction of the division of corrections, in institutions or on probation or parole?

—The 1967-68 budget request approximates $55 million?

—The juvenile caseload has virtually exploded?

300 Per Cent Increase —The number of delinquent boys received at Wales School for Boys increased from 615 in 1957 to 1,994 in 1966, a 300 per cent increase in 10 years?

—Average stay of boys, because of too few beds at the school dropped in the 10-year period from 9 months to 3½ months?

—Boys are sleeping in corridors, in basements, in attics and in libraries at the School for Boys at Wales and at the Kettle Moraine Boys School?

—Because communities are unable to accept the return of youngsters from these schools and help them make a fresh start, and because of the decrease in length of stay, readmissions in 1966 exceeded the number of new admissions?

Powers hit at the causes of delinquency, laying most of the blame on parents, schools and communities who do not provide, or do not see that boys and girls take advantage of adequate schools, social agencies and planned recreation and leisure time activities.

Cites Neglect

"Few of the delinquents have ever seen Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts, and I suspect few have parents who actively participate in their PTA," he said.

He suggested that PTA members take another look at school curricula which fosters dropouts; that they become active rather than just financially supporting social agencies, particularly to help the "child whose own parents won't or can't do so."

"If the accident of birth had afforded the 11,300 under the custody of the division of correction, the opportunity to be brought up by different parents, to have come from a home which offered the stability, love, security and understanding that is the God given right of every child, they might have been taxpayers instead of tax consumers," he said.

Speaking of the delinquent children he pointed out, "To those who recommend 'Get Tough' as the remedy for delinquency, let me say that you couldn't hurt most of these kids physically or emotionally to the degree they have already been hurt. You would be hard put to figure out a tougher experience or deprivation than they have already undergone."

He suggested that each PTA member read, and study, one of the better publications on the subject, "What PTA Members Should Know About Juvenile Delinquency," published by their own association.

MADISON — The campaign to permit 65 foot double bottom trucks on some state highways rolled through a state Senate committee hearing Thursday with only one opponent attempting to apply the brakes.

Appearing before the Senate Highways Committee, Larry Teich of Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Wisconsin branch of the American Automobile Association, promised backers of the bill as strong a fight as he waged in the 1965 session when he rallied enough support to keep a similar measure bottled up in the Senate after it had passed the Assembly.

But he was alone in speaking against the bill, which was supported by more than a dozen trucking industry spokesmen, insurance representatives and citizens.

On Specific Roads

Teich spoke to a committee headed by Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto, author of the measure which would permit use of the larger vehicles on state four lane and interstate highways, connecting roads and streets within one mile of such roadways, and causeways and bridges along the highways, if such structures are less than four lanes wide.

Under the terms of the bill sponsored by LaFave at the request of the legislature's interim highway advisory committee, single or double trailer trucks could be used without special state permits on the designated roadways if the total length of the combination, including semi-tractor, does not exceed 65 feet in length.

Current law allows the use of semi-tractors pulling only one trailer if the total length of the vehicles does not exceed 55 feet in length. Under current statutes, trucks longer than 55 feet can travel into Wisconsin upon receipt of special state permits.

Promises Fight

Teich admitted that "one of these days they are going to get double bottoms. . . I give them the economics of need."

But he promised them a long, hard fight before the increased size trailers are allowed on state highways.

He disputed earlier testimony given by backers of the measure which suggested that the increased passing time for a car traveling 65 miles per hour passing a truck traveling 10 miles per hour slower would only take two-tenths to two-fifths of a second longer.

Timing is unimportant, Teich argued. Far more important, he said, is the increased distance required to safely pass such a vehicle. The increased passing distance, he charged, would be 118 more feet of space — in the face, possibly, of on-coming traffic.

The needed total passing distance, he told the committee, would be 2,190 feet if the measure is enacted.

He read the committee letters from truck drivers who have handled the larger vehicles and call them "killer trucks."

Asked by Senate president pro tem Robert Knowles, R-New Richmond, if he had not during the legislative battle during the last session said that he would back the truck bill if limited only to four lane highways, Teich pointed out that the provision allowing their use on connecting streets and roads would provide for extensive use of the vehicles in highly urbanized areas of the state.

They could be used throughout almost all of the cities of Milwaukee and Madison, according to that provision, Teich charged.

Backers of the bill suggest that the trucks will be used in highway regions which are not heavily used, according to Teich. But one stretch of Interstate Highway 94 between Milwaukee and Chicago is one of the most heavily used in the country, he told the committee, and the larger trucks would cause additional traffic hazards.

Dan Schutz, safety director of the state Motor Vehicle Department, appeared before the committee to supply information, and told the body that his department could favor the bill if it is amended to provide for use of the vehicles on four lane divided highways, and so decrease the problems of attempting to pass the longer trucks in the face of on-coming traffic.

"I think we can work something out," said LaFave.

Following the hearing, LaFave expressed surprise that no additional opponents had appeared to fight the bill which involves one of the most controversial of Wisconsin's public affairs of the past several sessions of the Legislature.

John Varda, secretary of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association, told the committee that the double trailer combinations are now allowed in 34 states, and that Wisconsin carriers and shippers are handicapped in not being allowed to compete fully with firms using such vehicles elsewhere.

Senate Group Invited Along On Site Tour

Education Committee Of Assembly Makes Official Viewing

MADISON — The Senate Education Committee has been invited by state Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, to join a special tour of the competing sites for the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The tour, to be conducted Monday, by the state Assembly Education Committee, will begin at 10 a.m. and will take legislators over both the Larsen Farms and Shorewood sites proposed as homes of the planned campus, and will allow lawmakers to study Fox Valley traffic conditions before voting on a measure which would by law change the site of the new school.

Assembly Measure

The proposed bill, authored by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, and other southern Fox Valley legislators, would require the UW to develop its Green Bay branch campus on the Larsen Farms location rather than the selected Shorewood golf course site.

Lorge issued his invitation on the floor of the Senate Thursday, but it was promptly and unofficially rejected by Sen. Holger Rasmussen, R-Spooner, chairman of the education unit of the upper house.

"He did that with only 30 seconds notice," said Rasmussen. "I can't be there Monday. If the bill gets to the Senate, the education committee may take a tour of its own."

Lorge Backs Bill

Lorge, a backer of the site change bill, said that all other senators wishing to see the sites should also join the tour, before acting on the bill which is expected to clear the lower house.

"It will save a duplication of the trip later," he told the Senate.

Senate majority leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, had agreed that costs for other legislators could be borne by the state for the tour if the education unit made an official visit, Lorge said.

But Rasmussen declined Thursday to call a meeting of the unit before Monday to endorse the visit.

Reasons for Doubts About Vietnam

There may have appeared to be some naivete in Senator Charles Percy's suggestion, in a talk to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, that the Viet Cong be asked to participate fully in the development of government in South Vietnam. Communists in general do not so participate.

But whether the suggestion has merit depends upon the political situation in South Vietnam and the information on that is confusing.

The United States has taken the position, most recently enunciated by General William Westmoreland, that the war is not a civil war. But other observers have insisted that it is impossible for the regime in Saigon to appeal with any success to the majority of the peasants because the regime is in the landlord class. Terrorism is a major weapon of the Viet Cong and it is being aimed particularly at local officials and members of pacification teams.

Some weeks ago Premier Ky announced an amnesty program, called cheou hoi, and reportedly he was prompted by President Johnson at Guam, to step up the program. Figures released by the government show that twice as many Viet Cong are defecting as did a year ago. But thus far there is no follow up on what happens to the defectors once they have gone through a political indoctrination for only a month at a reception center. How many of the 1,000 a week who now are defecting actually stay away from the Viet Cong or take any part in the struggle against them?

The United States insists that the Viet Cong are directed from Hanoi. Certainly they are supported from Hanoi with supplies and the ever-growing number of North Vietnamese regulars serving in the South. But this point of view has meant that the United States has been unable to exploit the rumored antagonism between the leadership of the National Liberation Front in South Vietnam and the North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi.

American efforts at negotiation have specified that Hanoi must stop sending supplies and men to the South. As Secretary Rusk has consistently pointed out, it is unrealistic to ask only that the United States stop doing something in order to find a way to the conference table. But for years there was indeed little North Vietnamese aid going to the Viet Cong and the South Vietnamese could not cope with the guerrillas. It may be that from a military point of view, the American troops now in Vietnam could wipe out Viet Cong resistance. But it should be pointed out that so far they have failed to do so. General Westmoreland refused to say, but it is quite likely that he is here to seek more ground troops and to sell the American people and Congress on the need.

There has been no ingenuity in the Johnson Administration's handling of the war. As Senator Percy pointed out "we must answer whether we are prepared to allow our men to die at a rate of 150 to 250 a month, for an interminable number of years, in search of a total victory." The fact that good men die for a cause does not make that cause sacred.

There has been some optimism because Viet Cong defectors reportedly now include more higher level officers than in former months. Possibly if Senator Percy's suggestion were to be followed and more than amnesty offered, not only the current war could be slowed down, but the chances of later resurgence of the Communists, such as is now happening in the Philippines, could be prevented.

The United States is on record as insisting that our involvement is to halt communism in Southeast Asia. In the long run a lot of people will have died in vain if we defeat the North Vietnamese in battle and eventually lose South Vietnam to embittered Viet Cong and peasant supporters after our troops have been withdrawn.

'But then, Nancy, I'd never played a governor's role before either!'

Civilian Government Near

Lodge Can Point to Successes As He Leaves Vietnam Post

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

SAIGON—The happiest fellow in town for the past month has been Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. He has been dressing native for official ceremonies, singing along with piano players at farewell parties, and making the welkin ring wherever he goes.

Behind this unconfining joy is the conviction of a hard job well done. And while that impression may not be universal, it is at least important to consider that Lodge legacy — to look at the fruits of his second tour of duty in Saigon.

The most impressive change has come in the political field. Thanks to the personal ministrations of Lodge the South Vietnamese premier, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, has been housebroken.

Create Government Through the mechanism of a new constitution fixing presidential and legislative elections, there has been started a process for creating a legitimate government in Saigon. And, if successful, the program for sending revolutionary development teams through the countryside could every 10 people — a staggering ratio.

These forces have inflicted severe punishment on the regular units of the enemy. They have more than achieved the modest goal that is the true American interest in Vietnam. They have prevented the other side from winning a military victory.

But the buildup has been so great, that the limited objective has been lost from sight. The United States has engaged itself in what amounts to a major war. Being a great power, it now needs a military or diplomatic victory.

But that goal is far, far away. Enemy forces still control much of the back country. They move in and out of the major cities by night. Their fighting strength seems not to have been materially reduced. And they have a nearly infinite capacity to forestall the government's effort to establish a presence in the countryside.

Unfitted for Guerrillas

Meeting the enemy at night in the remote parts of the country, of course, is, and can only be, the job of the South Vietnamese army. But forming and advising the South Vietnamese forces has been an American responsibility. And the central problem is that American advisers have given the South Vietnamese, and continue to maintain for them, a conventional army, organized in large units, officered by professionals from the military schools, equipped with modern weapons, and totally unfit to meet the guerrillas in the field.

And that is where Lodge re-enters the picture. Despite the urging of his staff, he has refused to lift a finger to assert political control over the American military. He has given them their head. He has allowed them to fight the war they wanted to fight, and to create the Vietnamese army in their own image.

The result is that the limited political goals of the United States have been engrossed in a virtually unlimited military effort. Without even knowing it, the United States has become committed to goals very hard to realize, and probably not worth a fraction of the cost.

Along with the President and the secretary of state, Lodge has played a major role in allowing political responsibility to be subordinated to what passes for military necessity. And if there is great opportunity here for the new American ambassador, it is because Ellsworth Bunker is not in the habit of letting the soldiers slip the political lead.

Kraft

eventually work to make the writ of Saigon run in the villages and hamlets.

An equally impressive change has been a shift in mood, perhaps best expressed in what has happened in the matter of press relations. As always, of course, journalists and officials still have their rows.

But thanks to the decency and good manners of Lodge, it has become possible for each group to do its duty without thinking of the other as a bunch of rat finks. They now work in an atmosphere of tolerance — too much tolerance, if anything.

For the harmonious mood and the political progress have, I believe, obscured a genuine setback. It is a setback which paradoxically comes in the field where most Americans, including Ambassador Lodge, think the United States has shown to best advantage. It is in the military field.

Dominance in Air To be sure, the American Air Force dominates the skies over Vietnam. The American Navy dominates the seas and, when it wants to, the inland waterways.

On the ground, the United States has put in more than 400,000 troops. Together with the Vietnamese military and police that makes a security force of about one man for

Wisconsin Report

Blue Ribbon Study of State-Local Finances Difficult Assignment

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A new "blue ribbon committee" with the unenviable task of finding a way out of the morass of state-local financial relationships and the crisis in Wisconsin local government money affairs is about to set up shop.

Wyngaard

Probably under the direction of a respected private citizen whose name will lend dignity and credibility to the performance, the committee of four leading legislators and nine private citizens will be directed to file a report to the 1969 legislature covering such complex and difficult matters as:

1. The obligation of the state taxpayer, through state treasury assistance, to succor the hundreds of local units of government in Wisconsin which are obviously unable to support themselves in the same degree as in the past.

2. The redistribution of those multi-million dollar sums of state-collected but locally shared taxes in a way that will provide a reasonable equality of basic and essential services without rewarding the profligate at the expense of the prudent and thrifty.

3. The adequacy of the local government structure, basically originated according to circumstances and tastes long outdated, and whether it can be reformed and simplified and integrated to provide more service mileage out of its tax dollars.

RESULT OF PRESSURE

The creation of the special task force was in part the result of the pressure from the city halls of Wisconsin as most recently articulated by the so-called Alliance of Cities. But such a study would almost surely have come about in any event. Nobody has any doubt that fundamental, even radical rearrangement of the local government financing pattern is coming. There is an increasing probability that it will be accompanied by a strong demand for local organization change also. Some of the larger city mayors are disappointed. They somewhat potently have charged that the 1969 reporting date set by the legislature is evasive and intended to protect the state administration from the local finance question as a political issue during the 1968 election campaign.

Doubtless there are statehouse Republican politicians who are glad that they won't have to face the financial relief question this year, or in the next campaign. Doubtless also the irritation of some of the mayors relates to their own worries about constituent pressure on local tax rates, rather than to any conviction that they have a workable solution for their troubles.

What is involved here is a problem so complex, so difficult, so charged with political rivalry and concern, that it will require the most level heads, the most careful educational campaign, and the most complete statistical documentation to give the end proposal even a fair chance of enactment.

LACK AWARENESS

The Alliance thus far has shown little indication that it is aware of the political realities or even of the equities involved.

The mayors have published a proposal that equates local tax rates with the need for state tax assistance. But local tax rates also show spending appetites. Any other conclusion simply won't wash with a legislature that continues to have a sizeable proportion of rural and small town members accustomed to standards of public service consumption far more modest than those of Madison, or Milwaukee, or other cities.

The Alliance is also demanding, in effect, that the state surrender to the localities, under a formula in which their tax levels would control increases in the state income and sales tax yield after this biennium. That is like saying that the state has an abundance of new income sources to tap, or that it will maintain its present level of spending.

Yet the prospects for state budget expansion are as strong as they are in the localities, and the state is increasingly perplexed about finding new sources of tax money to tap. In such an atmosphere the new blue ribbon committee will undertake what may be the most difficult public service assignment of these times.

Anti-Communists Give Marxism Most Support

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The tragedy, and menace, of communism in the 20th century is a double-barreled one. First, there is the real threat of Communist domination in many parts of the world. Second, and just as important, there is the "anti-Communist" movement, which is often a cover for reaction and repression.

Harris

The rise of communism in our time has made it easier for reaction to mask itself as "anti-Communist" when it is really anti-people. The diabolism of the Marxists is met by the diabolism of native and disguised fascism purporting to "save" us from Red domination.

Communism in itself is not a viable philosophy or ideology. No country has ever freely chosen it; it has no possibility for growth, except through brute force or desperate hunger. Not a single nation with an adequate scale of living has ever voluntarily embraced it.

Strengthened Fascism But the massive irony of Marxism is that it has strengthened and proliferated the forces of fascism more than it has strengthened the forces of democracy. In many parts of the world today, the ordinary people have no choice except between a Castro and a Batista — which is to say, no meaningful choice at all.

In our own country, I consider the militant "anti-Communist" movement to be far more dangerous and pernicious than the exaggerated "Red conspiracy" they warn us about. Even during the worst times we have had, not more than one per cent of the American people were attracted to Marxist doctrine — not even the Negroes, who are the only true "proletarians" of American society, were taken in by Communist cant.

But because the threat of external communism has been real and pressing in other parts of the world, the professional "anti-Communists" have been able to mobilize large organizations and considerable sums of money to essentially fascist in their mood and direction.

It is a bleak paradox that Marx, their sworn enemy, has become their best friend — in the sense that if the Communist movement collapsed throughout the world, these disguised fascist groups would lose most of their emotional momentum and be revealed for what they truly are — not a bulwark against Marxism but a spearhead of hate, intolerance, bigotry, paranoia and violently anti-democratic feelings.

These groups need their "Reds" as much as Stalin needed his kulaks or Hitler needed his Jews. And if none were around, they would have to invent them — for no Devil theory of history can long survive without its Devil.

Shepherd Boy Finds 50 Pieces of Silver

Jaipur district is in northwestern India, bordering the Great Indian Desert.

The Philadelphia Gun Law

Despite the emphasis it received after the assassination of President Kennedy, the nation is no closer to resolving the difficult question of whether there is a means to regulate the sales of weapons. One criticism of the idea is that such laws really would not solve anything because persons bound toward a crime would get a weapon in any event.

Would a gun law work? Carl Bakal, author of the controversial book The Right to Bear Arms, reports that it would in a recent article in Saturday Review. He bases his opinion on an ordinance passed after two stormy civic debates in Philadelphia.

As it was passed, the Philadelphia ordinance was related only to new gun purchases. Those applying for gun permits must furnish photographs, fingerprints, and a registration number. The Police Department is empowered to reject permits sought by those under 18, those convicted of crimes of violence, drug addicts and habitual drunkards, the mentally ill, and those "not of good moral character or those without proper reason for acquiring a firearm."

During the first 18 months the ordinance was in effect, 139 persons of 5,034 who sought to buy guns were denied permits. Of this total, 110 were persons with criminal records. Bakal draws significance from the fact that, during the first nine months of 1966, the number of murders in Philadelphia dropped 17 per cent below the total for the same months of 1965 and that the Philadelphia total compared to a national increase of nine per cent for the same period.

The drive for the Philadelphia ordinance dated from a series of 1964 killings which was climaxed by the murder of a city detective by a woman who pulled a revolver out of her purse after she had been thrown out of a bar. But the first City Hall effort for an ordinance was a disaster.

More than 300 gun buffs and dealers turned out for a public hearing. The ordinance faced the familiar charges that it was unconstitutional and that it could even be a communist plot because the forces of evil could use gun registration lists to disarm loyal citizens. As is often the case, there was little testimony from proponents of such an ordinance.

"We've had a President slain and now a fine detective killed, and I still don't get one letter. Where does the public stand? Where are all the goodie-goodies?" complained City Council President Paul D'Ortona who has sponsored the ordinance.

A few months later, the proponents were heard. They included business, labor, religious and civic organizations.

A similar law since has been passed in New Jersey, but Bakal admits there is no way to get around loopholes provided by scattered local or state legislation. In fact, a suburban Philadelphia gun dealer ran advertisements announcing he could guarantee weapon sales to anyone. One Philadelphia, denied a city police permit, bought a pistol outside the city limits without any problem.

He used it to kill his wife.

Communism Still Fears Dissent

Judge Dusan Lukic last week ruled in Belgrade that author Mihajlo Mihajlov was guilty as charged. And in so doing the court convicted itself.

Mihajlov had circulated tracts charging that the freedom to express an opinion in writing was denied in Yugoslavia unless that opinion coincided with the line taken by the government. Judge Lukic ruled that Mihajlov was circulating hostile propaganda, so he obviously proved that Mihajlov was right in his claims. Even if the Serbian Supreme Court reduces Mihajlov's four year sentence, after deductions are made for time already served, the condemnation of communism will remain.

There are charges in Yugoslavia, however, that Mihajlov's efforts may backfire. Yugoslavia has moved a long way from its earlier repressive communism. More than any other Communist state, it not only permits but encourages certain types of free enterprise. The shake-up in the government more than a year ago emphasized the trend toward a less restrictive system, both economically and politically. The argument by some Yugoslavian liberals is that Mihajlov has rocked the boat and there will be a reaction born out of fear of more freedom too soon.

But this is doubtful. If Yugoslavia continues to evolve its own type of socialism without too much influence from the Soviet Union, it is likely that one day a freer people will point to Mihajlov as well as to Milovan Djilas as one who led the way.

For the time being, however, it is clear that communism, wherever it exists, is still fearful of dissent and still repressive toward dissenters.

Wallace Won't Explain Ambitions, Objectives

BY JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Trying to pin down Alabama's former governor, George C. Wallace, at this point in his political career is like trying to squeeze ice cream.

Earlier this week he indicated he might run for president in 1968, but he wouldn't say so. Thursday at Pittsburgh he told newsmen "since I am running for president" and then backtracked, saying the newsmen had him mixed up.

If he did run, he certainly couldn't win. But if he took enough votes away from Democratic and Republican candidates so that neither got a majority, the election would have to be thrown into the House of Representatives.

Blackmail Party

Last Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" he was asked if this threat to run for president was just "to blackmail one of the parties into accepting your view?" Wallace harps on the need for conservative candidates and party platforms.

Wallace denied any thought of blackmail but earlier this year announced that if the two national parties "don't swing around and fly right in 1968" he would be preaching the conservative cause from coast to coast.

When he ran in 1964 — that is, before he dropped out of the race — he said his purpose was to "conservatize" the two big parties and, if he could keep either from winning, he would gain a pro-Southern bargaining position.

Wallace withdrew from that race after the Republicans nominated Sen. Barry Goldwater. This might have been interpreted as meaning Goldwater was conservative enough to suit

Wallace. But he didn't endorse Goldwater.

And something else might have influenced him to pull out: A number of his supporters began to desert him for Goldwater, thus facing him with the possibility of a Wallace-Goldwater split that might leave the Democrats with a majority.

But, anyway, he quit after saying he wouldn't quit.

The former governor, 47 and a segregationist, says "I am not against the policy of non-discrimination," explaining he would not advocate segregation in any state. But he thinks Alabama's public schools should be segregated.

When asked if he became president whether he would advocate repeal of the civil rights laws now on the books, Wallace said he would advocate modifications and in the next breath said he would advocate some repeals.

He complains repeatedly of federal interference with what the states want to do with their domestic institutions.

Continue Segregation

So, since practically all of Alabama's school superintendents were trying to meet federal requirement to desegregate, he was asked why his wife, Lurleen Wallace, Alabama's present governor, is telling them not to.

He was asked a further question: Didn't this mean he was using the very kind of force he doesn't want the federal government to use? Wallace went into a long, spiraling answer which seemed to say the local subdivisions of a state should not be compared with the states and the federal government.

Mrs. Wallace, whose husband is her No. 1 adviser, on March 30 asked the Alabama Legislature for power to take over the schools as one step in a defiant plan to resist a three-judge federal court order to integrate them.

The only reason Mrs. Wallace ran for governor was because the law didn't allow her husband to run again. But on the day she announced she would run, her husband said, "I will dictate the policies" and "both of us will be governor."

This sounded all right to the voters of Alabama who gave them a big victory.

Faculty Earns Study Grants

Government Teacher Eyes Fox Cities Political Merger

Three Lawrence University faculty members have been named recipients of university summer grants for research and travel.

J. Michael Hittle, instructor in history; Lawrence D. Longley, instructor in government, and Hugo Martinez, instructor in Spanish, have been added to the list of nine faculty members whose summer grants were announced earlier.

Hittle will be working in the Russian Research Center and at the Widener Library at Harvard University toward the completion of his doctoral dissertation in Russian history.

Longley plans to conduct research on developing political integration in the Fox Cities region. He will use his grant to purchase materials and to travel in the area to interview community leaders. His research relates to a course he teaches on pressure groups and public opinion, with a focus on group action and community identification.

Martinez will be completing his doctoral dissertation on the early 20th century literary trends in Mexico. His summer plans include several trips to Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Home Starts Showing Spurt In Appleton

19 Residences Begun In March Represent $315,000 Value

New home starts have started to spurt in Appleton after a dismal showing for the first quarter of 1967, Director of Inspections Charles Magnette reported today.

He cited figures of Building Inspector Richard Atkins that permits were issued for 19 new residences during March, adding up to an estimated $315,000 worth of construction.

The overall construction total for the city last month was $643,382.

However, Magnette and Atkins said several permits have been taken out for additional new homes since April 1.

They noted a definite break in the previous trend which had new home construction activity at a snail's pace in January and February.

Loosening of the "tight money" situation was attributed to the sudden spark in home building, following a national pattern.

While it is expected 1967 will fall far short of setting any construction records here, there appears to be growing optimism there will be more private construction undertaken than in 1966.

A major project launched last week by Riverside Paper Corp. was construction of a new plant on the city's southside, the project representing the first phase of a continuing expansion program.

ers with extensive holdings in the metropolitan Milwaukee region and Madison. This is Megal's first Fox Valley venture.

Megal construction crews will be at the site in full force Monday morning to begin the excavation work.

The move of Wisconsin Wire Works to the 20-acre site in Greenville had been anticipated. Watson, beaming over the prospects of moving into a new plant by late fall, expressed appreciation to all who made the development possible, singling out Del F. Drumm and Walter Rugland of the Appleton Area Chamber and County Development Corp., respectively.

He also said he was thankful for the growth the company has attained and that finding of a suitable site for the expansion program enabled Wisconsin Wire Works to remain in the Fox Cities and Wisconsin. Watson said the proximity of the airport also played a part in the decision to relocate.

Watson said his firm has more than 100 production employees in Appleton and many others who represent the firm out of state. He pointed out the employees reside within the Fox Cities area, and the firm has an annual $1 million payroll, which Watson said, was in excess of the national average per employee.

"Cooperation on the part of many persons and units of government have made it possible for us to remain as an employer in this fine state," Watson asserted.

Pratt, representing his department and Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who sent his "greetings and best wishes," said the new plant project was indicative of the wire works firm was growing and would continue to add to the economy and industrial base of the state. "We wish you tremendous success," he told Watson and others.

Megal said construction of the plant represented the forerunner of a good-sized industrial park development in the Town of Greenville.

"I am happy to have been able to make the deal," added Megal, whose firm is planning similar developments in other Valley cities, it was learned.

Town of Greenville officials also welcomed the new plant and pledged cooperation to the owners and the county.

Military Allows Press To Visit Papandreou

ATHENS (AP) — The military regime allowed reporters today to see leftist leader George Papandreou in a military hospital and he told them "any treatment is excellent."

The visit was permitted to dispel rumors that the ex-premier was being ill-treated or on the verge of death.

A member of the military triumvirate said Thursday night Papandreou and his anti-monarchist son, Andreas, will be released from custody in a few days.

Col. George Papadopoulos, minister of the new military government's premier, told a news conference that the 79-year-old former premier — whose feud with King Constantine kept Greece in political turmoil for nearly two years — is interned in a military hospital and has "lost nothing of his old humor."

24 Leaders Held Papadopoulos said Andreas Papandreou and 24 other political leaders seized during the coup were being detained in hotels outside Athens.

It was the first disclosure of the whereabouts of the two Papandreous since the coup was launched last Friday. The army took over because it feared the Papandreous and their Center Union Party, largest in Parliament, would win the parliamentary elections scheduled for May 28.

Andreas Papandreou has been ordered to testify in a civilian investigation of an alleged leftist conspiracy against the monarchy.

he would press for passage of the second proposal after repeal is assured.

The Wisconsin law, passed in 1895, is the last ban left in the nation.

Leonard predicted the 33-man Senate would approve repeal overwhelmingly.

"Strictly guessing, I'd say there would be five, six or seven votes against it," he said.

The upper house was butter's favorite burial grounds for past efforts at repeal until 76-year-old former Sen. Earl Leverich of Sparta, longtime chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, was unseated in the Republican primary last fall.

Sen. Gordon Roseleip, R-Darlington, a dairyland defender from southwest Wisconsin, has girded himself for a final filibuster against repeal and has armed himself with 115 amendments as time consuming ammunition.

However, Sen. Allen Busby, R-West Milwaukee, the floor general for the repeal effort, said most of the amendments would be handled as a group. He predicted debate would last only two days.

split of the conservation merger on another 17-16 showdown last week.

Conservation interests had battled bitterly against the bill from the moment the Kellett task force, which wrote the reorganization plan, charted the merger last September.

Still pending is a final report by a Senate-Assembly committee on its investigation of charges that the Conservation Department used state supplies and personnel for improper lobbying against the merger.

Defeat Predicted

Democrats charged Thursday that the delay until 1980 would erase any chance of a merger, but Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, the powerful chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, predicted the new board would draw up a merger blueprint on schedule.

Krueger said, "reorganization is not out of the Conservation Department's hair and don't you ever forget it."

Republicans had forged the conservation compromise the previous day to satisfy dissidents within their ranks after Democrats repeatedly voted against key mergers in the Kellett bill.

Percy Makes Surprise Visit To Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., made a surprise arrival in Milwaukee Thursday night to attend the annual meeting today of the board of directors of the Outboard Marine Corp.

Percy, making his first visit to Wisconsin since his election last fall, is a member of the board and said it was the "one tie I have kept with business since entering political life."

Percy, at an airport newsconference, repeatedly denied having any aspirations to the 1968 Republican presidential nomination. At one point he said "There are many who are senior to me who are more qualified."

When he was asked for his opinion on Rev. Martin Luther King's recent statement that Percy would be the best Republican candidate for president in 1968, Percy said King was "pre-occupied" with civil rights and was "most intrigued by the housing bill I have introduced."

Conflict Surrounds Life Of Civil Rights Priest

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Conflict and controversy wrack the life of the Rev. James E. Groppi, a white priest in a black community he finds ringed with hate. At times, the conflict is inner. "Failing in Christian charity is always a danger," he said. "It's very easy to hate."

He told of seeing a policeman once throw a demonstrator to the sidewalk. "She was a 12-year-old girl. She was kicked in the stomach by a policeman. He threw her to the ground and kicked her in the stomach."

"A person," said the 36-year-old priest, "has to sit down and think about it and differentiate between the person and the evil."

"I'm angry and it's a good, Christian justifiable anger," he said.

Other conflicts are out in the open. Father Groppi has been at times, at odds with his ecclesiastical superiors. More recently there have been reports that all is not serene within the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Council Adviser

He is council adviser. The priest tends to minimize the conflict there. "There was conflict within the apostles," he said.

But that conflict could grow. Father Groppi is a white man, and no matter how closely he identifies with the Negro, there is a gulf that will remain.

And ironically, the more successful the priest becomes in instilling racial pride in Negroes, the greater are the chances that the gulf will widen.

Black power is on the move. "He's white," commented a Negro civil rights worker when assessing Father Groppi's troubles within the council. He said no more. He didn't have to.

The priest has also been criticized from within the council for relying too heavily on advice from white men and for taking over leadership in the council when his stated role is to advise.

Overly Emotional

He has also been accused of being indecisive and overly emotional in a crisis.

Criticism of another sort abounds in rumors that assail his personal morals.

Prominence has cost him the protective cover he had when he was considered just another idealistic priest. He is now a target.

"He's the priest that's stirring up all that trouble in the core," said a well-to-do insurance man from suburban Whitefish Bay. Should Negro frustrations spill over violently this summer, many will blame the priest.

For all the activities of Father Groppi and his Youth Council and other civil rights groups, there has been little perceptible

Use Paper Plates to Make Unusual Desk Decorations

BY CAPPY DICK

An unusual decoration for your desk top can be made by forming a profile with pebbles glued to a paper picnic plate.

The profile should be a silhouette likeness of your favorite movie star. Draw it first with pencil, making the outline very light.

With the pencil line as a guide, glue small pebbles to the plate as shown in Figure 1. Use china mending glue.

Make a display holder for the plate from a cardboard box cut, as shown in Figure 2 where the dotted line represents a plate in the holder.

For the best result, all of the pebbles should be of about the same size and color.

Also considerable care should be taken in setting the pebbles into place to be sure the glue is not smeared. If patience is used, the completed profile will be an attractive curio to display on your desk as the boy is doing in the picture above.

Executive Board Meeting

Advisory Unit Devises Plan to Inform Citizens

What is hoped to be an effective structure in better informing Appleton residents of municipal programs was worked out Wednesday night by the executive board of the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The recently appointed committee, comprised of 78 members, has community cross-section representation.

In recent weeks several subcommittees have been conducting meetings on varied subjects and their reports were reviewed during last night's two-hour session at city hall, presided over by Richard Van Sistine.

No Authority

"The Advisory Committee has no authority as such, although appointed by the mayor and city council," Van Sistine explained. "However, it is charged with the responsibility of expressing opinions of citizens on various matters and conveying them to city hall and back again.

"One of the main purposes of the committee is to work toward better acceptance of solutions for problems or urgencies of city government," he added.

Van Sistine made his remarks after it became obvious several members questioned the role of the citizens' group would be and to what extent it held authority, if any.

Among observations during the board meeting were that:

—A communications gap exists between the city and county government and something should be done to encourage the two units to work closer together on dual projects.

Sports Complex

—Both Appleton and Outagamie County should participate in the planning and construction of a new sports complex if there is to be one, and a logical location might be a section of the old airport property.

—Committee members should become informed of municipal programs and then explain them to the public through their contacts with various groups and organizations.

—One subcommittee might make a thorough study of the city's comprehensive plan, and then relate to the citizenry its importance and the need for following it as close as possible.

—Should a portion of the old airport be made an industrial park, the proposed green belt to nearby residential developments should extend 200 feet east of Ballard Road and be used for park purposes.

—The white power structure is piling up box after box of dynamite in the core and someone, maybe some cop, is going to throw a match one day and it's going to explode.

"And when that happens, I'm going to sit in my room and read a book. I'm going to read a book. That's what I'm going to do."

Predictions of explosive times ahead are general. "Things have gotten worse," said the priest. "I can't foretell the future but unless things get better, I'd say we're heading for trouble."

The priest assumes that when, and if, trouble comes, fingers will be pointed at him.

Tom McCahill evaluates the automobile industry for Mechanix Illustrated. Recently, he took out an SST hardtop equipped with a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8 for an exhaustive series of road tests. How did our Excitement Machine perform?

"In roadability and performance, it would top most of the newer specialty cars. There's absolutely no plowing and little body roll. The whole feel of the car, when going over ruts or across dirt roads, is excellent."

What about comfort?

"It's extremely comfortable and relaxing to drive. In straight-line driving the SST is as comfortable as the Jell-O specials."

How about Rebel's new four-link rear suspension?

"Of all the new sporty-type cars, as they come from the showroom, Rebel has by far the best and safest suspension of the whole kit and caboodle."

And the looks?

Dick Van Dyke Nearly Ran to Shame Reagan

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last year the voters of California might have been faced with a three-way contest for governor: Ronald Reagan, Edmund G. Brown — and Dick Van Dyke.

"Carl Reiner and I were seriously thinking of running me on an independent ticket," Van Dyke says. "We would have stumped the state in an attempt to split Reagan's votes and demonstrate how ridiculous it is for an actor to begin his elective career by running for governor of California."

"Only one thing stopped us: We were afraid I might get elected."

Although Van Dyke declined to run in 1966, his friends are wondering if he might not be available for public office after 1971. That's the date when he plans to give up his acting career and devote himself to helping humanity.

The Hollywood crowd, which has never quite understood Dick Van Dyke, has viewed his so-called five-year plan with skepticism. He has announced that five years after ending his highly successful television series — that was just a year ago — he would abandon show business for more altruistic pursuits.

At this point he is not certain where the new life will take him. He is a devout Presbyterian and is likely to be active in church affairs. He also is interested in using films and television for religious and educational purposes.

Wouldn't politics be a logical extension of his proposed new life?

"Well, I hadn't thought about that," he admitted. "But I guess it's true that if you want to get things done in the world today, you have to get in politics. That's where the action is."

'Advise and Consent' Is CBS Movie

BY TV SCOUT
8-10:45 (Channels 2-7-12) — The CBS Friday Night Movie provides an excellent example of how a best-selling novel can be faithfully adapted with Allen Drury's Pulitzer Prize-winning "Advise and Consent" the case in point. The story is an absorbing behind-the-scenes look at national politics told with equal amounts of sensitivity and shock. One of the major points of successful adaptation is in the casting, and that is one of the finest elements here. Henry Fonda plays a Presidential nominee for the office of Secretary of State. Charles Laughton is a senior Senator opposing the appointment and Walter Pidgeon the Senate Majority Leader. With Franchot Tone as President — that's not start! President and Low Ayres as opening headquarters yet. Their man will not be available for a draft, having engendered one of the heaviest production schedules of any film star.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — Tarzan presents a number of guessing games to keep its young viewers intrigued: Will Jill Donahue, who has only 75 hours to live, be saved by a wonder serum? Will Michael Witney and Robert Wilke, who are handcuffed to one another, convince the Ape Man that one of them isn't a criminal? (R)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Devil's Island provides the setting for "The Wild West." In this sometimes interesting but often clumsy adventure, Robert Conrad and Ross Martin subject themselves to a variety of tortures so they can free Tom Drake, a fellow agent from the island prison camp. (R)

7-8 (Channels 11-4-9) — Let's remember Pearl Harbor, but surely not the way Time Tunnel does. In "The Day the Sky Fell In," our wandering scientists pop up in the Japanese Consulate in Honolulu on Dec. 6, 1941. Of course, they know what is going to happen the next day and there is some effort to stop the holocaust. (R)

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Hogan's Heroes are called on to provide all of their individual, devious talents when a Gestapo agent uncovers their ingenious activities. (R)

8-8:30 (Channels 11-4-9) — Rango is a feature in tonight's schedule simply because it is not a repeat. Even so, most of the repeats are better than this episode titled "You Can't Scalp a Bald Indian." Our raunchy Ranger gets booted out of the troop when he lets an Indian escape, and when he tries to recapture him, gets romantically entangled with the chief's daughter.

9-10 (Channels 11-4-9) — The Avengers pull another weirdo, or weirdos, out of the pot in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Station." It begins when an agent, enroute to meet Mrs. Peel, gets off at the wrong station and quickly turns into a corpse.

Stage Band At Lawrence In TV Role

"Big band" jazz, subject of the WFRV-TV (Channel 8) program, "Focus," at 7 p.m. Monday, will feature the stage band of Lawrence University's chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia professional music fraternity.

Among the Sinfonians' music will be a Billy May arrangement of "That Old Black Magic," John "Dizzy" Gillespie's "Groovin' High," Sammy Nestico's "The Queen Bee," and Marshall Brown's "Solid Blue."

The program also includes an original jazz score, "Ballad for Carol," written by 1966 Lawrence Conservatory graduate Edward Hoffman, Park Ridge, Ill. Hoffman, a trumpet player and music theory major, won the 1965 Green Bay Symphony Orchestra's Young Wisconsin Artist competition.

His score will feature alto saxophonist Don Erdman, Appleton, and trumpet soloist Richard Crandall, Rolling Meadows. Other soloists are Dennis Young, Appleton, tenor saxophone; Keith Osterman, Jr., Lincolnshire, Ill., trombone; and Gary Woelml, Elm Grove, bassist.

The program previews a concert planned by the Lawrence musicians for May 12 at Memorial Chapel, Appleton.

Fox Valley Center Has Tickets for Dr. King Visit

Free tickets for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center lecture will be available to the public next Monday.

King will speak at 8 p.m. Friday, May 12, in the Center Fine Arts Theatre. Students and faculty members have reserved seats in the theatre, and the public will hear King via closed circuit television piped into the Center cafeteria.

Tickets, limited to two per request, may be obtained from noon to 4 p.m. at the Center box office May 1, or by mail. Mail requests must include a stamped, self-addressed return envelope. Mail requests may be sent to Tickets, Fox Valley Center, Menasha.

It was earlier been announced by the Center Lecture committee, which is arranging King's visit, that tickets for the public would cost $2.50 each. The committee decided this week to remove the charge and to refund any money already collected.

King, controversial civil rights leader, won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964.

Talking Typewriters Become Key to New Learning Process

BY JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine months of the year, a boy named Scotty left his public housing project apartment in the morning and began thinking up reasons not to go to school. At least one day out of every four he found a reason.

Almost any excuse was good enough because Scotty hated school and hated it, he thought, was reason enough not to go.

But in the past two months, 16-year-old Scotty was absent only once, and then because he was sick.

A few days ago, he told his school officials he wanted to stay in school until he could graduate. "I don't have any reason to hate school any more," he said.

Attitude Changes

Why the change? Why did a boy from the low income east New York section of Brooklyn change from a near-chronic truant into an eager learner almost overnight?

Officials at Scotty's school think they have the answer.

Scotty is one of 225 children who attend a new kind of school, one set up on the second floor of a building that also houses a carpet store. The school is a cept the one called. It is impossible to make a mistake.

Once the alphabet has been learned, the machine progresses to teaching words and then to sentences, supplemented by stories and pictures.

Adjust Speed

The machine's speed is set to the rate at which the user is capable of learning. He progresses at his own pace and is neither pushed nor held back.

"The machine has the patience of a perfect mother," says Dr. John H. Martin, vice president of the Responsive Environments Corp., which designs the programs for the ERE.

"It never scolds, it never ties, it never becomes impatient," he said. "It only responds to the child. It doesn't compliment him when he's right, but it doesn't berate him when he's wrong. It makes achievement a reward, and the learners achieve for it."

Worldwide Use

The EREs are being used in centers around the world. One of them is the East New York Responsive Environment Center where Scotty and educationally deprived children like him are beginning to catch up.

Dr. Edward Welling, who heads the center, agrees with Dr. Martin about the work of the machines.

As proof, Dr. Welling offered the testing of two groups of children of kindergarten age. All were from east New York. In one group, which never attended the center or worked with the talking typewriters, the 21 children knew an average of 6.1 letters of the alphabet. In a group of 25 who did attend the center, the average knowledge was 16.4 letters.

Level Rises

Dr. Welling estimated that by the end of the school year, 80 per cent of his 60 first graders would be reading at their proper grade level.

"That percentage is about normal for a fairly decent suburban community," Dr. Welling said. "and you could not, under any circumstances, describe east New York that way. Eighty per cent reading up to grade level in this area is phenomenal."

In public schools in east New York, he said, children usually are a year behind in reading by the time they begin the third grade.

Slower Rate

"By the time they are 16," he said, "they are four to five years behind."

Scotty was one of those children. At 16, he read on a fourth grade level.

"No wonder he hated school," Dr. Welling said.

Scotty's reading progress since he started attending the center has yet to be measured. But, Dr. Welling said, the progress in his attitude is obvious.

"Now he wants to read," Dr. Welling said. "He's trying to read. His attitude has improved 100 per cent. He's gone from completely negative to entirely positive. If we've done nothing

Your Problems

Ann Says Even Ridiculous Note Beats No Acknowledgment

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I decided a few weeks ago that if I received one more ridiculous thank you note I would write to you. Today is the day. It arrived in this morning's mail. Here it is:

"I am just a teeny weeny baby so of course I can't write yet but my mommie is writing for me. She says the little dress you sent is the prettiest one in my wardrobe. I think it is too. I just love pink. I hope you will come and see how nice I look in my pretty pink dress. But please call before you come because I sleep quite a lot and I want to be up from my nap when you come to see me. Love, — Linda Sue."

Isn't that nauseating? Why do mothers think they have to be so cute? Would you call this bad taste, stupidity or what? Please comment. Hasten Jason Bring The Basin

Dear Jason: Personally, I don't care for cutesy, precious thank-you notes but at least you received an expression of appreciation. Every week I get dozens of letters from people who wonder why their wedding gifts, graduation gifts, baby gifts, Christmas, Easter and birthday gifts are not even acknowledged.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fre-

I frequently read in your column complaints from pseudomascu-line husbands who think house-work is for sissies.

I boil when I think of the bums whose wives hold down jobs, run homes and raise families, while they put in an eight-hour day and then hide behind the newspaper or TV.

I am proud to say I share the household duties with my wife and do everything I can to help, including ironing. I have not developed any mammary glands or other feminine characteristics. Nobody has ever called me a pantywaist, at least not to my face.

Fathers should not worry about their sons being sissies if they do housework. They should be concerned with raising young men who can help their wives without feeling that their masculinity is being threatened. — Champaign, Ill.

Dear Champ: Every working wife in the U.S.A. will love you for your stand. Thanks for writing.

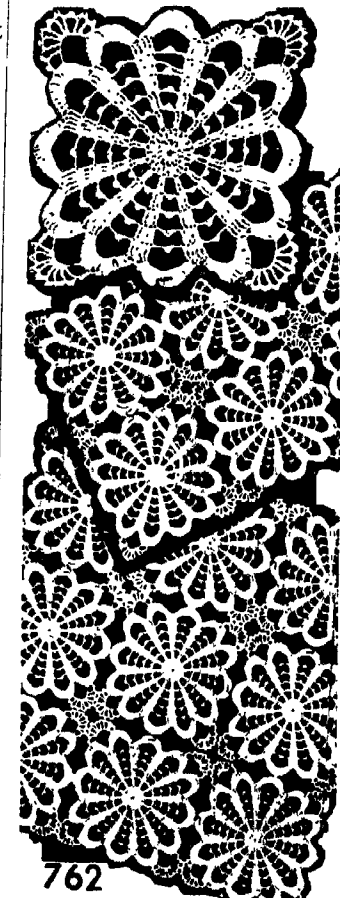

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I almost croaked when I read the letter from the 13-year-old girl who said she had been in love three times. She signed herself: "This Time It's Real."

I am 15 and I know the difference between a crush and infatuation. Any girl who is in love with her English teacher one week and the paper boy the next week has got to be wingy. Then she talks about feeling dizzy and not being able to eat. Maybe the poor kid has the flu. I hope the girl clipped out that silly column and that she will read it again when she is 18. She'll have a good laugh. Sign me — I Can Wait.

Dear ICW: You have a smart head on those 15-year-old shoulders. Young kids who think they are in love, then try to live the past as they see it portrayed in the movies, end up sad and sorry. Congratulations on your good sense.

Dismiss Bigamy Charges Against Carlo Pontis

ROME (AP) — A Rome court of appeals ruled today that Sophia Loren and Carlo Pontis were never legally married in Mexico.

The decision meant that longstanding bigamy charges against the famous movie couple would be thrown out of court.

Today's ruling reversed an earlier decision by a lower court that the Mexican marriage by proxy was valid.

Press Charges

On the basis of the first decision the prosecution had pressed ahead with criminal bigamy charges.

The couple appealed. The court's decision today held that the proxy papers for their 1957 marriage lacked required signatures by witnesses and therefore a legal marriage did not take place.

The actress and the producer were married in Paris in April 1956 after Pontis acquired French citizenship.

In the earlier stages of the case the lower court held that the proxy marriage had taken place but was void because of Pontis' previous marriage.

Italy has no divorce. Pontis had obtained a Mexican divorce in 1957 before the proxy marriage in Juarez. The bigamy charges, brought by several private citizens in Italy, were filed against the couple a few weeks after the marriage.

Backs Decision

The action by the appeals court backed up a 1962 decision by a court in Mexico that the proxy marriage was invalid.

Prior to marrying Miss Loren in Paris, Pontis and his first wife, Giuliana Fiastri, were divorced in France.

The Loren-Pontis case had become a cause celebre in the growing campaign in Italy to legalize divorce. Divorce advocates have long pointed to the Pontis-Loren situation as dramatizing what they consider the hypocrisy caused by lack of divorce laws.

Single Men, Women Deserve Tax Break

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Sally is a single woman living alone in a New York City apartment and supporting herself by her earnings as a secretary. A fortnight ago Sally mailed her 1966 income tax return and paid an income tax which unfairly discriminates against her strictly because of her marital status.

Sylvia Porter

Joe is a bachelor also living alone in a midtown apartment who supports himself and an aged aunt in a different household by his earnings as a junior executive. Joe has just mailed his 1966 tax return and paid a tax which unjustly penalizes him not only because he is single but also because his dependent is not his mother but the aunt who raised him after his mother's death — and therefore, he does not qualify for "head of household" status.

Brutally Biased
Our current federal income laws are brutally biased against the single individual in the U.S., both in application of tax rates and in personal exemptions.

The discrimination is indefensible. It adds a harsh financial blow to the emotional one the single status imposes, particularly on the never-married, middle-aged woman.

If you are a married couple and you have just filed a joint return for 1966, you have paid an income tax which is equivalent to what you would have paid if each of you had reported separately and paid tax on half your total income at single person rates. You have, in effect, "split your income" to achieve a substantial tax advantage.

If you are single and you have reported the same total income as this married couple, you have paid your income tax at the much higher rate applied to the full total. You have no advantage comparable to income splitting.

Two Exemptions
If you are married with no children and living in a three-room apartment, you are entitled to two personal exemptions of $600 each to help you reduce the taxes you owe on your income.

If you are single and living in an identical apartment on another floor of the same building, you are entitled to only one personal exemption of $600. Many of your overhead costs are the same and your living expenses are much more than half those of the childless married couple, but the personal exemption rules in our tax laws do not recognize this reality.

If you are unmarried but support close relatives, you may be able to get head of household status and preferred tax treatment.

If you too are unmarried but support people not closely related, you cannot get this status or preferred tax treatment.

In a major study of our income tax structure last fall, Joseph A. Pechman, director of economic studies for the Brookings Institution, agreed in on the discrimination against single taxpayers, but his findings received meagre attention.

Millions Affected

Now, though I've been comparing the tax positions of Sally and Joe with my own, and now the Pechman analysis has moved off the pages of a lengthy technical tome and into real life: As I know Sally and Joe, so you know (or are) their counterparts, for there are millions like them the nation over.

The inequities have crept into our tax structure by miscalculation and historical accident. The personal exemptions were set to protect very low income people and to help families with large numbers of children and little thought was given to the single middle-income man or woman. Income splitting was adopted in 1948 in order to give to the rest of the country the tax advantages of the states which at the end of World War II had community property laws and which treated income as if divided equally between husband and wife.

But in Pechman's words: "The needs of a household do not increase in proportion to the number of people in the household... Present exemptions do not cover the rock-bottom economic standards for single persons and married couples with no children but are more than adequate for families of six or more."

Hard To Justify

As for income splitting, "the practical effect is to produce large differences in the tax burdens of single persons and married couples, differences which depend on the rate of gradation and not on the level of rates. Such differences are difficult to rationalize on any grounds. Moreover, it is difficult to justify treating single persons with families more harshly than married persons in similar circumstances."

Vietnam or no, tax reform again will become a major target in 1968. This, therefore, is the time for you, America's millions of single taxpayers, to start putting pressure on Congress for elimination of the discrimination against you — via increases in your personal exemptions, liberalization of head of household provisions or other devices.

You, the single men or women, have an utterly justifiable beef. Organize to win a fair tax break!

Paper Industries Part Of State Tour Listing

MADISON — What has been described as one of the most fascinating of all manufacturing processes — papermaking — may be seen by Wisconsin tourists this summer.

This was revealed today in a joint announcement by the vacation and travel service of the state Conservation Department and the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, an association of major state pulp and paper manufacturers.

Regular tours will be offered at paper manufacturing sites in Ashland, De Pere, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Marinette, Mosinee, Neenah, Nekoosa, Oconto Falls, Peshtigo, Port Edwards, Rhineland, Rothschild, Tomahawk and Wisconsin Rapids. Altogether, 19 mills are cooperating in the program.

Area participants are Bergstrom Paper Co. and Kimberly-Clark Corp. Lakeview Division in Neenah, and Thimmaray Pulp and Paper Co. of Kaukauna. All three offer tours at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Appleton Division of Consolidated Papers, Inc. also offers tours but by appointment only. Most mills bar children under 12.

The Conservation Department said pamphlets advising visitors of the tours will be distributed at its six interstate highway information centers, and at its Chicago and Milwaukee tourist offices.

Tourism Industry
Said the general chairman of the Information Service, Walter Adrian, president of Badger Paper Mills, Inc., at Peshtigo and formerly of Monarch: "Tourism is a major industry in Wisconsin and is growing each year. We are pleased to be able to cooperate with state officials and others who have urged us to make our facilities available to tourists."

"We know from the comments of visitors in the past that a paper mill tour is a fascinating experience — highly interesting and educational."

"At many of our sites, visitors will see stacks of eight-foot logs go in one end of the plant, be processed into pulp, and emerge as paper. The techniques by which this is accomplished — literally, before one's eyes — are truly remarkable."

Adrian cautioned that most paper mills prohibit small children, and that casual clothing is recommended for women as well as men. Further information may be obtained from the office of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, 104 N. Commercial St., Neenah, or the State Conservation Department, at its six interstate highway

Judge Refuses New Trial For Arsonist

Richard Cornelius Now Serving Time At Reformatory

Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren late this morning denied a motion by the state's public defender who asked that a new trial be granted for Richard Allen Cornelius, 20, who is serving a five-year reformatory term for burning an Oneida church and two barns Oct. 31, 1965.

Robert Friebert had asked that the guilty verdict by a 12-member Outagamie County Court jury April 20, 1966, be set aside and a new trial be ordered on grounds that Cornelius, formerly of rural West DePere, was not represented by legal counsel during the trial, and was not competent to intelligently waive his right to counsel.

Found Guilty
Cornelius was found guilty of three counts of arson in connection with fires that destroyed Immaculate Conception Catholic Church and barns owned by George Verkuilen and Louis Peterson.

Cornelius, who was found indigent, refused the services of three court-appointed attorneys and, during the trial, refused to participate in his own defense on the grounds that he was without legal counsel.

The state defender, named to the case after Cornelius wrote to the State Supreme Court asking for appointment of legal counsel for an appeal, contended during an hour-long hearing before Judge Van Susteren this morning that the court should have compelled an attorney to continue representing Cornelius.

Declared Fit
Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, in objecting to the public defender's motion, said that Central State Hospital officials had declared Cornelius fit for trial and able to participate in his own defense.

Schaefer said that such a thing as being discussed in court this morning "could lead to a defendant asking for nationally known attorneys, like (Melvin) Belli or (F. Lee) Bailey."

Runway Extension Request Given to FAA for Approval

State Commission Cuts 500 Feet From County's Proposal

Outagamie County's request for an extension to its new airport runway, now under construction, has been submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA), but in a watered-down form.

The Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission, meeting Thursday in Sheboygan, supported action by the commission's Madison staff which recommended to the FAA that the 5,200 foot runway be extended to 6,500 feet.

Outagamie County's original request, for which a hearing was conducted in Appleton Feb. 9, was for an 1,800-foot extension to make the new runway 7,000 feet in length.

Program Deadline
Deadline for project applications to the FAA for participation in the 1968 federal aid program was Wednesday.

The commission's staff, in Madison, sent the application to the FAA's Minneapolis area office with the 6,500-foot recommendation had the chance to act. As a result, the commission could do nothing Thursday but approve the staff's action.

Don Love, Green Bay, one of the commission members, said today that he objects to the way

Kaukauna Woman Hurt in Accident Southwest of Appleton

Ruth F. Mann, route 3, Kaukauna, suffered a cut knee and a bump on the head when a car driven by Joseph Mann, 39, also of route 3, Kaukauna, was involved in an accident about 11:20 p.m. Wednesday on Outagamie County Trunk KK, 3 miles southwest of Appleton. County police said Mann was turning into a driveway when his car and a west bound auto, driven by Robert C. Wegner, 23, 925½ W. Lorain St., Appleton, collided.

the Outagamie County aid application was handled.

"I felt," Love said, "that Outagamie County had developed one of the better cases that had come before the commission in several years. But the staff, apparently, felt that 6,500 feet was sufficient."

"I object," he stated, "to the staff alteration of the petition prior to the official commission consideration of the facts, as developed at the hearing. In this instance, the authority of the commission as a policymaking group was circumvented."

Love indicated that the 7,000 foot runway would have won approval of the commission if it had been given the opportunity to act by the Madison staff.

Outagamie's petition for federal participation in paying the cost of constructing a runway extension is now in the Minneapolis area office of the FAA with the recommendation that it be 1,300 feet to make the total southwest-northeast runway 6,500 feet, instead of an 1,800 foot extension.

The FAA is expected to announce its 1968 airport construction program in late summer.

$20 Bill, Coins Stolen From Kaukauna Home

KAUKAUNA — Police are investigating the theft of a $20 bill, two jars containing an undetermined amount of change and three bottles of liquor from the Eugene Feldkamp residence, 918 Grignon St., sometime Thursday night.

The owner told police the persons responsible found a key to the back door and entered the home sometime after 4 p.m. when the family left to visit a sick relative.

Expansion of Wire Works Boost to Area's Economy

The start of new plants and industrial expansions in the Fox Cities region in recent months has run counter-trend to the slowdown in the national economy, a state official indicated here Thursday.

"It is quite surprising," Pratt said. "There have been quite a number of developments in Appleton and the Fox Cities region."

Two Planning Bodies Vote Structural Reorganizations

Valley Group Gives Rule to Elected Officers

New Council Will Make Region Eligible For Federal Bonuses

MENASHA — Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission members Thursday night unanimously accepted revised articles of agreement which would change the organization to the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

The change would place control of the organization exclusively in the hands of elected officials. At the present time, there are some citizen members including the chairman and vice chairman.

Councils and boards of the 12 member cities, villages and towns will have to approve the change before it is effective and a tentative time limit of 30 days was placed on the council proposal, for action by municipal governing bodies.

There was some hesitation to act on the proposal at the annual commission meeting at the Hotel Menasha. The commission executive committee had asked the group to include elected officials from all municipalities, including school boards. Using a definition of municipalities from state statutes, membership would have been open to cities, villages, towns and school boards.

Resigns From County Force

Russell Bowers to Leave Department After 12 Years

Russell Bowers, 46, an Outagamie County policeman for 12 years, has resigned, effective May 18. Sheriff Norbert Marx told the county board's law enforcement committee this morning.

Bowers, in his letter of resignation, said he was quitting "for personal reasons." He indicated that he intends to take other employment near Appleton, and will continue to live here.

The Appleton man, one of four sheriff's investigators, started as a county patrolman in September of 1951. He worked as a policeman until 1959 when he resigned. He returned as an investigator in 1963.

Seek Replacement
Bowers and his family live at 3105 N. Ballard Road. Marx indicated that steps will be taken to find a replacement for Bowers.

In other business, this morning, the board's law enforcement committee approved procedural steps for the change-over to squad car fuel purchases at the Outagamie County Highway Department shop at 3300 W. Wisconsin Ave. The change becomes effective Monday.

In the past, gasoline has been purchased from Van Zeele Oil Co. at Little Chute, on a contract basis.

County police, at the end of the daily 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. shifts, will now be required to get gasoline and check their squad cars for water, oil, and windshield levels, and clean the windshield and lights.

Marx also told the committee this morning that a radar unit, used in traffic control work, has been mounted in one squad car.

Wolf River Chairman Forecasts Use of Eminent Domain to Save Recreation Land

SHAWANO — Members of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission were urged "to provide for the fast-growing recreational needs of our people," by chairman Gordon A. Bubolz, Appleton, at the quarterly meeting Thursday at the Club Continental.

Bubolz said the commission will "try to prevent unwise and destructive use of shorelands." He cited progress made in northern counties but said there is a serious problem in the urban areas of Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

Space Short
"It's getting to the point where unless you use eminent domain for public recreation property, the people will be deprived of the facilities," Bubolz said. "Unless we take a serious look at this, we're going to find the southern urban counties of this region facing the same problems as the southeastern portion of the state."

William Morris, executive director of the commission, urged commissioners to "stay ahead of technological advances." "We can expect to rebuild all the facilities we have in the next 35 years," Morris said.

He said the commission is considering the possibility of a "visitor center" in Menominee County, on the Wolf River south of Keshena. The center might include motels, shops and a museum, he said.

"Governmental units are not fully aware of the services available through the commission," Morris added. Consequently, a traveling display is being prepared which will be used throughout the region to explain commission services.

Watch Film
A recently completed film, "The Majestic River" was shown to commissioners at the meeting and also will be used for information purposes. The film was produced by Ducklow Communications with funds provided by Friends of the Wolf River. The film will be televised.

At the same time Johnson said in a letter to Mayor George Buckley and other governmental heads in the Fox Cities, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh and other state cities, that the proposed legislation "... could have a serious effect on the normal growth of your city."

The bill would amend 60.81 of the statutes and make it impossible for cities even to attempt to annex so-called "tax islands" at their borders.

Cities, on the other hand, have requested the legislature to update old annexation laws to give them more authority in starting annexations.

Referendum
Bill 582A being supported by the towns and fought by the cities would mean, if enacted, that any town with population of 5,000 or more and an equalized value of $20 million or more could, by a simple referendum, become a city of the third or fourth class.

Wolf Has New Name; Adds County

SHAWANO — Seeking a "broadened base," the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission Thursday changed its name and unanimously approved the addition of Florence County as the group's ninth member.

Chairman Gordon A. Bubolz said at the commission's quarterly meeting at the Club Continental, "We must have the tax base to continue these planning services. Eight or nine counties wouldn't provide the tax base needed in the years to come."

Change Name

The name change to the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission was approved unanimously and effective immediately, but the addition of Florence County requires the approval of at least five of the commission's eight existing member counties.

Florence County would be one of the commission's northernmost members. Counties belonging to the group are Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Waushara, Shawano, Langlade, Menominee, and Forest.

Bubolz also indicated at least one, and perhaps several, additional counties have expressed an interest in joining the group. Included among them, Bubolz said, are Oconto County to the north and "one or two of the southern counties."

The changes received support from all commissioners. Henry Allhise, commission treasurer, said, "I think we have to continue to grow. We can't stay dormant."

Other commissioners cited the recent formation of Water Region III in northeastern Wisconsin by the State Department of Resource Development for pollution abatement. The name change would make it possible for the commission's boundaries to roughly parallel those of Region III, they said.

Initially, Florence County's annual commission allocation would be only about $400. Since the levy is so small, the Florence County commissioners will pay their own per diem expenses for commission functions. The expenses normally are paid by the commission.

Approval of the addition was preceded by a formal request to join by the Florence County board.

City Officials Urged to Fight Towns' Measure

Appleton Mayor Says Delegation Will Attend Hearing in Madison

Appleton city officials will join others from Wisconsin Tuesday in a Madison appeal heads in the Fox Cities, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh and other state cities, that the proposed legislation "... could have a serious effect on the normal growth of your city."

The legislation was introduced recently by the Suburban Towns Association which has some members in the Fox Cities region.

Ed Johnson, Madison, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, sent letters to mayors of all cities and villages today urging their attendance at a hearing on Bill 582A in the state capitol at 9:30 a.m.

Byrnes Predicts No Tax Hike In Talk to District Caucus

More Bureaucracy, Creditability Gap Cited in Attacking Democrats

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Rep. John W. Byrnes, veteran 8th District Republican, Thursday predicted there would be no tax increase in the near future and bombarded the Democratic Administration for actions ranging from increasing bureaucracy to a creditability gap.

The Green Bay lawmaker, now serving his 11th term in the House, was the principal speaker at the 8th District GOP caucus at the Beaumont Motor Inn.

Lawrence Honors Day Speaker

'Dare to Know Self,' Students Admonished

Lawrence University students were urged Thursday to "face and explore your own resources," and to use "your critical faculty" in an effort to unite heart and mind in the business of living.

Dr. Elizabeth Koffka, professor of history, told students to dare to know themselves "without bias and with courage" as they move through life.

She discussed "The Dilemma of Modern Humanism" at the annual honors' day observance. The humanist problem, she said, has numerous expressions in our present social upheavals — delinquency, sit-ins and stand-ins, and outspoken demands for campus reforms.

Self Vanished

This restlessness "is but the outer manifestation of an at least two-centuries-old conscious or unconscious betrayal of human nature in its authentic saturated form or forms," she said.

With the dawn of World War I, man was shocked into the realization that simple security, prosperity and happiness, and all-progressive life philosophies were not enough.

The "precious self" had vanished, she said, and the "enlightened surgeon's knife cut out as a superfluous, even destructive organ the heart, while leaving intact the head as the intellect, reason."

representatives from the seven county area were Lt. Gov. Jack Olson and State GOP Chairman Ody Fish.

Telling his audience the government "faces a huge deficit this year and another one next year," Byrnes predicted President Johnson "won't get the tax increase measure through congress."

It marked the birth of the modern religion of reason ending the traditional belief in the equal value of all of our faculties, mind, soul and senses, all working in close unison, one nourishing the other," she said.

"Man is a function of reason and not reason a function, among others, of man; this is the gist of the revolutionary act, and the clue to more than half of our contemporary woes," she said.

Needs Feelings

Mrs. Koffka acknowledged "the tremendous trust in the power of the human mind, isolated intellect" was not without value, particularly in the advance of the natural sciences, the secular cities, and in living standards.

But, she argued, there are "disastrous implications" also the first of which is that in order to absorb information man needs feelings, and nothing much happens unless the powers are stimulated by emotional drives in the forms of lively curiosities and passionate involvements.

Mrs. Koffka urged that students refuse to "accept" the revelations of science without first applying principles of self-evaluation and criticism. Exploration pays off, she said. "Learn how to live with problems, instead of right answers."

ington — called on the federal government to reduce spending to aid the economy.

He said last fall's resurgence of the Republican Party "shows that the people are losing faith with the Democrats."

"The people are tired of promises easily made and rarely fulfilled. They are tired of constantly increasing taxes and federal power ... tired of not being able to believe what their government says ... tired of being pawns in a power struggle between Johnson and Robert Kennedy," Byrnes continued.

"It's time we have a government that squares with the people," Byrnes stated. "We want the facts — even the ugly facts — so we know what has to be done," the representative said.

He criticized Senate Democrats for blocking needed legislation by "fighting" among themselves. He said Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield and Senate whip Russell Long are "at odds" and are responsible for a stalemate in the Senate.

Senate at Standstill
The Senate has been at a standstill for almost a month, Byrnes declared, and has stalled the re-instatement of the 7 per cent investment credit for capital improvement for business — a bill which would stimulate the economy.

Byrnes also predicted a good future for the Republicans in the coming elections. "The Republican Party is on the rise and going great," he said to the delight of the audience.

Olson verbally patted Gov. Knowles on the back for aiding in industrial development throughout the state and for his leadership in anti-pollution laws.

Under Knowles' administration pollution control has begun, Olson said.

"Even Nelson (Senator Gaylord Nelson, former governor), self-claimed king of conservation — or Reynolds (former Democratic Governor, John Reynolds) never submitted an anti-pollution bill," as did Knowles, Olson said.

Fish, urging continued "hard work" by all Republicans said the party is still the minority party in Wisconsin. It will be difficult to "carry over the success of 1966" while picking up a U. S. Senate seat and electing a Republican attorney general, Fish added.

March Down Aisle Will Fulfill Dream of Bride

NEENAH — The groom always takes second place to the bride at any wedding.

But, when Douglas J. Harper, formerly of Neenah, takes Susan Louise Smith for his bride Saturday afternoon at the U.S. Naval Academy chapel at Annapolis, Md., he will in all likelihood play an even more obscure role than the average bridegroom — and for good reason.

The bride's planned walk down the aisle to meet Harper at the altar will be a victory in a personal battle that seemed at times she was unable to win.

At the age of 5, she was stricken by paralytic polio. For months the child lay in extreme pain, strapped to a plywood board, unable even to move her eyelids.

She has had repeated surgery since then, involving operations on her hands, feet, and hip and complete replacement of her spine.

For three years she was completely paralyzed. She was 9 before she regained partial use of her hands. At 14, she took her first few tottering steps, aided by braces and encouraged by Edward Block, trainer for the Baltimore Colts football team.

She still spends much of her time in a wheelchair, but can walk a quarter-mile each week.

The once useless hands were busy painstakingly sewing tiny crystals and pearls onto her wedding dress this week.

The daughter of a retired navy commander, she met Harper, 23, when he was stationed at Annapolis with the Marine Corps three years ago.

Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Harper.

Woodenboe Road, route 1, Neenah. His parents are in Maryland for the wedding.

"This has been my dream since I was very small — when I would lie and wonder if I would ever marry. I wanted to be married at the academy and I wanted to walk to the altar," said Miss Smith.

"Doug and I will be married at 2 in the afternoon and I plan — if it's humanly possible — to walk down the chapel aisle using my long braces."

Teacher Strike Vote Fails In Menasha

MENASHA — Reports of a strike vote Wednesday among members of the Menasha Teachers Union (MTU) were confirmed today. The "no contract, no work" proposal was reportedly defeated by only a slim margin, possibly one vote.

The teachers local, a member of the Wisconsin Teacher's Union, AFL-CIO, is locked in negotiations with the school board over the contract which would go into effect in September. Bargaining has been underway for eight months.

A release from the MTU executive board today reports that after a two hour discussion Wednesday night when the membership was carefully informed of the deadlock in negotiations with the board of education, a roll call vote was taken.

In the voting, extended into Thursday in order that each member of Local 1166 could make his choice, it reportedly was neck-and-neck until late Thursday afternoon when a one vote margin stood against the strike vote.

"The negotiation team will take these results to mean that it is directed to proceed with all other action which will eventually result in a fair and equitable settlement of the master contract," Barry Ewald, president of Local 1166 said today.

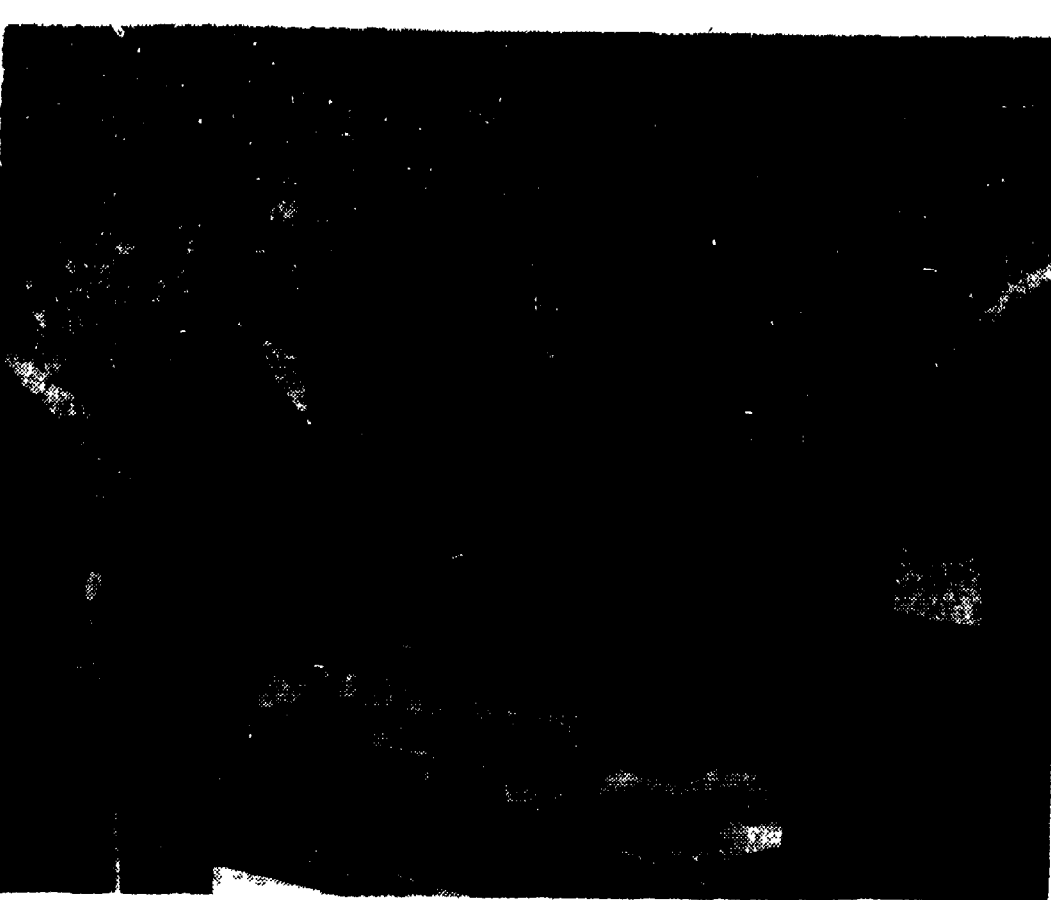

Local 1166, sole bargainers for all teachers in the Menasha public schools, has had its negotiating team meeting with the personnel committee of the Menasha board of education since last September.

After six months of what both teams considered "no progress," the board of education in March requested mediation to break the "impasse" reached by both parties at the bargaining table.

Mayor Petitions Will be Filed

NEENAH — Petitions to force a referendum on the four-year mayor term plan are expected to be filed either late Monday or Tuesday, a spokesman for a citizens group circulating the petitions said today.

Deadline for filing the petitions is next Friday. Approximately 450 signers are needed to force the issue to a referendum. If the petitions are not filed, the charter ordinance amendment, passed by the Neenah Common Council March 1, would take effect May 6 and the four-year terms would start with the April, 1968, election. The present term of Mayor Carl Loehning would not be affected.

'Lost' Village of Winneconne Awaiting Discovery Sunday

WINNECONNE — The lost village of Winneconne may get put back on the map.

Obviously the village is still somewhat lost because officials will try to find the answer in Oshkosh, 10 miles to the east.

Residents of this community of 1,300 on the Wolf River have been up in arms since the official 1967 Wisconsin highway map appeared, minus their village.

But now this situation may be rectified. Gov. Warren Knowles will select the winner Sunday of a nation-wide contest conducted by the Winneconne Chamber of Commerce for the best suggestion for putting the village back on the map.

Contest

The contest was conducted during the Chicago Boat Show late in February at which the Winneconne Chamber had a booth. More than 1,000 entries from across the county have been received, according to Mrs. Vera Kitchen, president of the Winneconne Chamber.

Chamber judges are narrowing the list down to the 12 best and Gov. Knowles will select the winner at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at the Pioneer Motel in Oshkosh. The winner will receive a week-end vacation in Winneconne as the guest of the Chamber of Commerce.

Residents here have been brooding because tourists, rapidly becoming a major industry, and fishermen would not be able to find their way with the highway map just showing a blank spot where the village is located.

Map Resolution

The Village Board passed a resolution in February calling for immediate action to be taken to get Winneconne back on the map. An alternate solution offered at that time was since Winneconne did not appear on the map, they might seek location on a map of another state with a more favorable climate.

Since then, Winneconne has had an offer to join up with a Michigan community which suffered the same fate.

However, Mrs. Kitchen noted, the walleyes and white bass, which were more plentiful this spring than in recent years, succeeded in finding their way through Winneconne even without the aid of a map.

Barbers Hike Cost of Clipping

NEENAH - MENASHA — Starting next Monday it's going to cost more to get clipped.

The Twin City's Barber Union's Local 924 voted to boost the prices in member shops a quarter for both adults and youths over 14 years of age.

Local Secretary Harold Tooleson said today the members agreed to an increase of 25 cents for adults to $2.25 and a similar increase for youths 14 and over to $2. The $1.50 charge for children under 14 will not be changed.

The local also okayed a Thursday night opening to 8 p.m., instead of the present Friday night hours, to go along with businesses in the Twin Cities starting June 1.

Pick Michigan Expert To Head Water Unit

Thomas G. Frangos Picked for State Position in Resource Development

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Thomas G. Frangos, a director of the Michigan legislature's water planning program, has been selected to head the water resources division of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development (DRD).

Frangos was named today to the most vital staff position in Wisconsin's war on dirty water by Freeman Holmer, DRD director.

He will begin his new assignment on May 15.

He replaces Theodore F. Wisniewski, acting director of the division, who was made assistant to Holmer for policy planning earlier this week at a meeting of the Board of Resource Development.

Wisniewski had served for 16 years prior to last summer as director of Wisconsin's Committee on Water Pollution before the water quality enforcement powers of 12 state departments were merged in the state's far-reaching anti-pollution program last August.

Frangos has served as director of the Michigan legislature's Committee on Water Resources Planning since March, 1966. The unit is in charge of developing the water resource policies of that state, including the long-range plans on which to base legislative programs.

Frangos holds a law degree from the University of Michigan and a civil engineering degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y.

A professional water resources worker, he has served in staff positions for Nassau County, N.Y., as a sanitary engineer, for the U.S. Public Health Service, and for New York State.

In announcing the appointment, Holmer hailed Frangos' background and said, "He has the technical and administrative qualifications necessary to direct a rapidly-enlarging division staff in its program of improving Wisconsin's water quality."

Market Balks At 900 Level

Tape Runs 5 Minutes Late in Heavy Trade Short of Barrier

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market met resistance just below the vaunted 900 level in the Dow Jones industrial average today and was easing early in the afternoon.

Trading was heavy. The ticker tape ran at least five minutes late as the Dow industrials came within a point of the 900 line which has been regarded as a psychological barrier.

Prices rose from the start, taking off from Thursday's rise, the tenth in 11 sessions.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.01 points at 896.83. At the end of the first half hour of trading the Dow was at 899.

It was a broad and very vigorous rise but analysts noted that the market was extremely vulnerable after such a long series of advances.

60 Stocks Higher

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .9 at 327.4 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .1 and utilities up .2.

As trading continued less actively in the afternoon, the margin of gainers over losers was reduced from the early margin of better than two-to-one.

Douglas Aircraft was up more than 3 and McDonnell Co. about 2, both issues paring the best early gains when they showed continued response to news that the justice department has no immediate plans to take antitrust action against their merger.

Deere & Co. was ahead on volume and down a point. Active gainers of about a point included General Motors and American Standard.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

The workers were laid off April 7 after contract negotiations broke down between the firm, which is headquartered in Indianapolis, Ind., and local Teamsters unions.

A week later, farmers were released from their grower contracts with the company. Quakenbush said he was notified Thursday afternoon by company officials, and asked to conduct an acreage check to determine how much of the company's acreage was still available.

He also was directed to call the employees back to work, he said. Of the 35 warehousemen, mechanics, and field men, Quakenbush said all but three or four returned to work this morning.

The manager also said that approximately 3,000 of the original 3,500 acres remain available for planting. He said, a check of grower contracts revealed that "we still have the biggest part of the acreage available."

Growers haven't had the opportunity to begin spring planting which would have diminished the company's acreage, he said.

While only 35 employees were affected by the layoff, the Appleton firm normally has as many as 300 seasonal workers for the canning season.

Unofficial reports said all the plants were reopening today. While company officials didn't announce a contract agreement, there were indications that an agreement had been reached between negotiators at a meeting in Chicago.

Term May be Cut

Valley Planners Elect '67 Regional Officers

MENASHA — Officers whose terms might be cut as short as 30 days if the Fox Valley Council of Governments is ratified, were elected Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The officers re-elected include Ralph Risley, Menasha, chairman; Don Colburn, Neenah, vice chairman; and Arthur Vanderheiden, Kimberly, secretary-treasurer. The officers were nominated by a committee headed by Laurel Heaney, chairman of the Town of Neenah, and elected on unanimous ballots.

Cut Terms
Their terms of office, however, will be cut to about 30 days if the proposed council of governments is approved by the 12 member municipalities. The council must be made up of elected officials, instead of citizens.

Scout Program Hailed By Retired Navy Officer

Of all the work being done on the home front during the last two world wars that of scoutmasters in developing young leaders was considered most important by a retired Navy commander and national promoter for the scouting movement.

Lt. Cdr. Thomas Keane, U.S.N. Ret., offered this opinion during his keynote address at the 12th annual meeting of the Tri-City District of the Valley Boy Scout Council at Sabre Lanes Thursday night.

He recalled a visit with the late Adm. Charles Nimitz during which the admiral confided that his top five advisers were released from duty during the last world war.

Keane said he considers the scout oath the "finest code of ethics today next to the Sermon on the Mount."

He started scouting as an assistant scoutmaster and soon was called upon to assist with the Sea Scouts because of his Navy background.

The national scout office learned of his talents and in 1937 asked him to join the national staff. For the next 14 years he toured the nation lauding the merits of the scouting movement.

Recalled to Duty
In 1941 he was recalled to active duty and in the next five years learned that the trained boys were great defenders of the nation.

He praised local scout leaders for their sacrifices and hailed them as community leaders.

Keane, while flying 50,000 miles per year as a national scout promoter, is still an assistant scoutmaster for a troop of 41 boys at his church. He will meet with them Monday night for one of those periodic refreshers in which he recalls his travels with the boys.

Work of Past Year
At Menasha Session

MENASHA — Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, Thursday night outlined commission activities during the past year in his report to the annual meeting at the Hotel Menasha.

Franchett, Arno Haering, assistant director, and Arlene Sprangers, office secretary, make up the commission staff. Franchett has been authorized, however, to advertise for an additional planner.

Review Plans
The commission's workload during the past year, Franchett said, has included:

—Twelve subdivision plat reviews for conformity with the regional plan.

—Four open-space applications from commission member municipalities which were processed by the staff. Applications are submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

—Completion of a census tracing for Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie counties with meetings and said the Valley Council was on the "verge of a scouting boom." He introduced his district executives Tom Wright and John Nebel.

The Town of Menasha, moved to strike from the articles of agreement the provision for school board membership.

After some debate, commissioners decided that the school board provisions should be removed, and included at a later date if deemed necessary.

Federal Stipulation
The council of governments would make it possible for municipalities which are members of the organization to receive additional federal grants for construction projects. The federal Metropolitan Development Act stipulates that in order to receive the bonuses, municipalities must be members of an urban area-wide planning program and the program must be run by elected officials.

The change could be accepted even though all the member governments don't approve it. Risley said, however, "I think we'd have a problem if any one of the 12 communities voted it down. I don't feel we can get along without any one of our constituent municipalities."

Present members are cities of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, and Menasha; villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly, and Little Chute; and towns of Buchanan, Grand Chute, Harrison, Menasha and Neenah.

The girl was arrested after she admitted herself Feb. 2 to Winnebago State Hospital and a small vial of the greenish powdery substance was found in her possession.

The district attorney placed several witnesses on the stand to show that the vial taken from Miss Christy was marijuana. It was tested at the state crime laboratory.

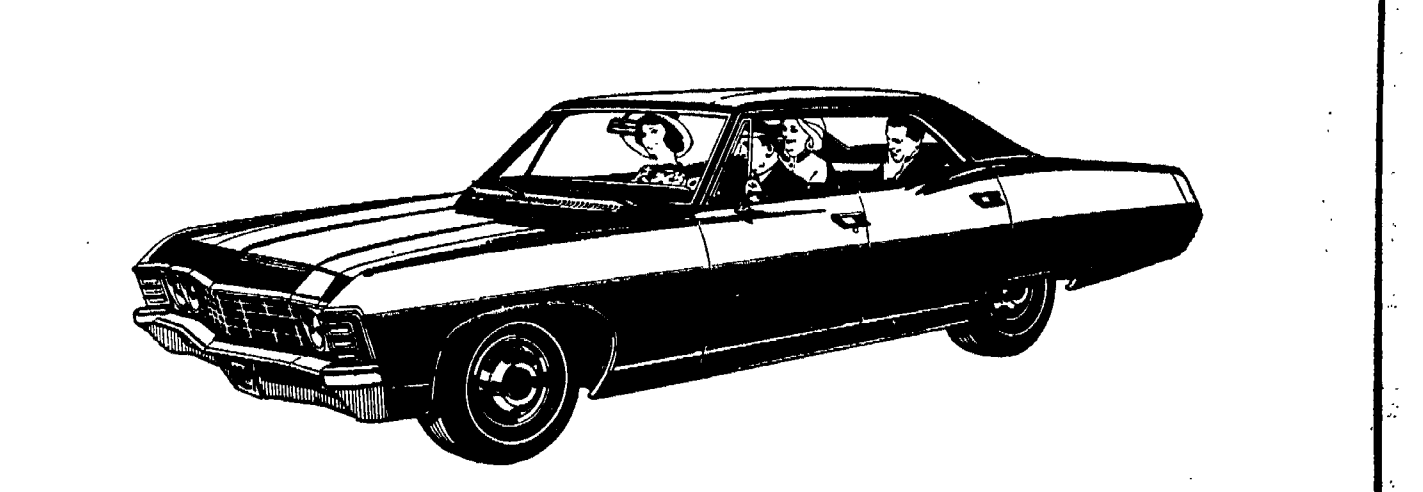

The defense argued that there was no proof that the vial was given to the girl by Evans and moved for dismissal of the case. The motion was denied.

The defense also asked that the $5,000 bond be lowered, but the judge refused. Evans was released upon payment of bond after the examination.

UW to Use Some Platooning for Its Game in Neenah

About 14 Players Will Go Both Ways During Saturday's Test

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin football team held a minimum contact workout Thursday as the Badgers put on the finishing touches before their game-type scrimmage at Neenah Saturday.

Coach John Coatta called Thursday a "basic teaching" day as the Badgers worked on kicking for the second day in a row. Dave Billy, a freshman from Arlington, Va., was doing all the kicking.

Halfback Walt Ridlon, who sprained an ankle in Wednesday's practice session, will not play in the Neenah scrimmage, Coatta said Thursday. But Ridlon will make the trip.

Coatta said his assistants would conduct their second "draft" of the spring session today, to divide the squad for Saturday's scrimmage.

The first draft was held last Friday and the Red team came out on top of the whites 20-12 in a scrimmage at West Allis. All the players went both ways in that confrontation.

Saturday, only about 14 players will still play both offense and defense. The others will play in the positions for which they will be competing next fall, Coatta said.

For those 14 who still play both ways, Saturday's scrimmage will determine which way they will go next fall, Coatta said.

Ray Gasper Fourth in B Division

BY RON WITT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh's Judy Henke took over the Women's Class A leadership in the Post-Crescent Bowl-O-Rama Thursday night when she walloped an 870 four-game set.

Her mark was one of three changes in the standings for the evening, as area keggers turned out in full force at Appleton's 41 Bowl. Fern Mead, of Appleton, joined in the shuffling of the women's classification, as she moved into fifth place in Class A, with an 841.

The men were less active for the night, as Ray Gasper of Appleton made the only intrusion into the standings — an 886 set moved him into fourth place in the Men's Class B division.

The new Class A women's standard surpasses the 860 series set by Kathy Sodermark of Neenah, who had held the lead since April 19. Judy Henke started slowly with a 126 scratch game, and then broke loose with successive lines of 223 and 234. She finished up with a 183 game to give her a scratch total of 766. A 104-pin handicap boosted her score to the final 870.

Fern Mead might have challenged Judy for the top spot, had she not lost her momentum in the third game. Fern started with a 159, zoomed to 237, and then fell back to 112. Her last game was 193 to give her a scratch total of 701. Her handicap of 140 pins gave her a final 841 count.

Gasper, playing with a 32-pin handicap, fired scratch games of 156, 207, 219, and 176 for a 758 total. The adjusted count of 886 put him 10 pins ahead of Walter Chrapala, of Neenah.

Taking home prizes for high games Thursday night were Ed Reider of Appleton with a 276 (248 scratch) Fern Mead of Appleton, 272 (237 scratch); Ray Gasper of Appleton, 251 (219 scratch); Walter Zoern of Clintonville, 251 (231 scratch); and Judy Henke of Oshkosh, 260 (234 scratch).

AHS Golfers Hand Neenah 5-Stroke Loss

NEENAH — John Gall carded a 37 to lead Appleton High School to a 198 to 203 golf victory over Neenah at the Winagamie course Thursday afternoon.

Other Appleton totals were: Craig Boyson, 39; Bill Witt, 40; Ollie Champagne and Randy Warobick, 41s.

Charles Besser took Neenah medal honors with a 39. John Cannon and Doug Pagel each netted 40s, Pete Hackstock 41 and Steve Bartel 43.

Kalies Has No-Hitter

KIMBERLY — Freshman right-hander Ralph Kalies tossed a no-hit game against Freedom Thursday, as the Papermakers won, 5-0.

The non-league win was Kimberly's first of the season in six games. Kalies struck out 14 batters and walked only one in stopping Freedom cold. His only trouble came in the fourth inning, when a pair of Kimberly errors put runners on first and second base.

Kimberly got the only run it needed in the first frame, when Jeff Haas singled, Korky Smith walked, and Dan Blajeski singled driving in Haas. The Papermakers added three more in the second, when Haas again singled to score two runs and Blajeski's second hit drove in another.

Kimberly got its final tally in the third on John Johnson's double that scored Kalies.

Jim Taylor Says He's Not Particular About Where He Might Play

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Jim Taylor, star fullback of the champion Green Bay Packers, said Thursday he's not particular about where he plays football next season.

Whether it's with the Packers, the New Orleans Saints or any other National Football League team, Taylor isn't now willing to list his preference.

Taylor becomes a free agent in the NFL on Monday. He said in an interview he's not making any plans but is "patiently waiting" until his option with the Packers runs out.

"I'm not going to break any legal rules by tampering with other clubs, or anything like that," he said. "I can talk after Monday."

The former Louisiana State University star said he talked with the Packers about a month ago but there was no contract settlement then.

Would Go Anywhere
Rumors have it that Taylor wants to play next season with the Saints, the newest entry in the NFL. The Saints want Taylor.

"I don't know," Taylor said when asked about that possibility. "I don't know what they're going to offer me. How can I tell? I haven't talked to them. I would like to go anywhere. I'm not particular about where I play."

Taylor said Paul Hornung, a

Quincy Rally Stops Foxes In '67 Opener

Cubs Score All Their Runs in Eighth for 6-2 ML Victory

QUINCY, Ill. — Quincy exploded for six runs in the eighth to deal the Appleton Foxes a 6-2 setback in the Midwest League opener Thursday night.

The Foxes will attempt to pick up victory No. 1 tonight when they journey to Decatur. Appleton's converted outfielder, Al Fitzmorris seemed to have things under control through seven innings of hurling, with a 2-0 lead, when the roof caved in.

The Cubs' Elby Bushong walked to lead off the eighth, but Fitzmorris struck out Bob Eyer. Enrique Rosendo then got to Fitzmorris for a single, only the second he had given up.

Willie Hooker was called in to relieve Fitzmorris but John Cox met him with a triple to clear the bases. He was able to score on the same play himself as the throw in to third was wild.

Mike Klahr then nicked Hooker for another hit but Willie forced Rich Bladt to ground out for the second out. Jim Williams then worked the relief specialist for a walk.

What apparently was the third out of the inning turned into a nightmare for the Foxes. Jim Gretta grounded to first baseman Pete Lentine for a routine out but Lentine apparently missed touching the bag. Gretta was called safe and the runners continued around the bases for three more runs.

In the second, after May's single, Gary Kirtlan grounded to the pitcher Chester Stephenson, who threw wild to first base.

Bill Bradley

January. Presumably, he will join the club in mid season.

Bradley, 23, is a 6-foot-5, 205-pounder, did not play last winter except for sporadic appearances with a team at Oxford University which he described as "something like cricket at Crystal City." (his home town in Missouri).

Propson went the route and struck out eight.

Blohm, Mueller Hurl Win; Hortonville's Miller Hits 'Slam'

MENASHA — Menasha High School came up with two 4-run innings and another of three markers to halt Hortonville, 12-7, in a non-conference game here Thursday.

The Polar Bears collected five of their runs in the second, four on a grand-slam homer by Jerry Miller.

Ted Blohm and Terry Mueller shared the Bluejay mound duties, while Dick Horton went the distance for Hortonville. The Menashans posted a 10-5 hit advantage and had the help of seven errors, four in the 4-run fifth.

Menasha made only two errors, but its pitchers walked 10. Leadoff man Jay Cordy was passed five straight times, stole four bases and scored three times.

Cassius Mum At Induction

Lawyers, Friends Accompany Clay to Testing Center

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay arrived at 8:41 a.m. (EST) for his showdown with the government over military service.

The heavyweight champion, who insists he will not enter the service because of his Black Muslim religion, carried a large manila envelope when he stepped out of a white station wagon with his lawyers and two close friends.

"No comment, no comment," the man who calls himself Muhammad Ali told questioning newsmen.

"It's all in here. Everything's in here. I will release it after this," he said, holding up the envelope.

He dropped it once as he walked toward the elevator.

The champion's induction program was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with a long series of medical and mental tests and filling out forms.

Army induction officers said it might be as late as 2 p.m. before Clay is asked to take the traditional one step forward which places him in the armed services.

Lakers Get New Coach

Van Breda Kolff Succeeds Schaus, Signs 3-Year Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, after their worst season since moving here from Minneapolis seven years ago, have tapped Willem (Bill) Van Breda Kolff to lead them back to prominence in the National Basketball Association.

Van Breda Kolff, an ex-Marine with a brilliant college record, including four Ivy League titles in the past five years at Princeton, was officially named coach of the Lakers at a news conference Thursday.

The new coach has a three-year contract and, though terms were not disclosed, reports were Wednesday, when Van Breda Kolff's impending appointment became known, that the pact called for $30,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Fred Schaus, who coached the Lakers since their arrival on the West Coast, will move up to general manager, succeeding Lou Mohs.

Van Breda Kolff, 44, who coached at Lafayette and Hofstra, before Princeton, said the fundamentals of basketball are the same in college and the pros, and he added:

"Winning is very important to me. I've got four children to support."

Texas Team Takes ABC Classic Lead

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Balancer Glove of Fort Worth, Tex., posted a six game total of 6,298 Thursday to claim the lead in the Classic Team Division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The Balancers blasted a 3,235 series in their opening three-game block Wednesday. They subsided to 3,063 in their second round Thursday, but it was more than enough to surpass the previous leaders, Ace Mitchell Shur Hooks of Akron, Ohio, which totaled 6,098.

Bud Horn of Los Angeles led the Balancers Thursday with 651. Bill Bunetta of Fresno, Calif., had 636; Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., 621; John Guenther of Seattle, Wash., 601, and Bowler of the Year Wayne Zahn of Atlanta 554.

Smallcomb Enterprises of Alhambra, Calif., took second place in the pro five-man standings with 6,259. After a 3,117 in the opening block, they returned Thursday with 3,142. Ted Hoffmann Jr. of Philadelphia was Smallcomb's big gun, shooting 670.

The Don Carter Glove team of St. Louis got off to a rousing start by shooting 3,240 in its opening block. Dick Weber anchored with 687 and Don Carter showed some of his old zest by popping in a 661 series. Pat Patterson had 641, Ray Bluth 634 and Tom Hennessey 617.

The Carters need 3,059 in their second block tonight to surpass the Balancers.

Bob Strampe of Detroit assumed first place in Classic All-events after posting a nine game total of 2,092, fourth best in ABC history.

The veteran pro started his campaign Wednesday with 667 in the team event and returned Thursday to add 699 in doubles and a second place singles series of 726.

Norm Meyers of Los Angeles and Harry Smith of Redwood City, Calif., moved up to first place in the Classic Doubles with a 1,422 total.

Dave Soutar of Detroit and Strampe claimed second place in the pro two-man standings with 1,395.

Advin Dexter of Kingsport, Tenn., pitched a 267-248-212-727 series to take first place in Regular Division singles. The 52-year-old janitor displaced Frank Perry of Lorain, Ohio, who had clung to the lead for two weeks with 723.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Ferguson Jenkins, Cubs, permitted just three hits and struck out 10 in winning his third game of the season, 3-0 over New York.

BATTING — Ron Hunt, Dodgers, drove in four runs with a run-scoring single and a bases-loaded double as Los Angeles beat Atlanta 6-0.

Trojan Track Team Tops Kaukauna, 63-55

KAUKAUNA — Despite two record-breaking performances of Steve Theriault, Kaukauna High School went down to a 63-55 defeat at the hands of Green Bay Southwest in a dual track meet here Thursday.

Theriault established a school mark in the pole vault as he cleared 11 feet, 4 inches. He also set a school standard in the quarter mile with a clocking of :53.1 although he only placed second.

The Trojans captured 10 of the 14 events and finished 1-2 in the "century" high jump and long jump.

The Ghosts' Mike Hooyman, Bob Jansen and Mark Tatro slammed both hurdle events, finishing in the same order both times.

Besides his two firsts in the hurdles, Hooyman managed a third in the high jump to emerge as the Ghosts' top point man, with 11. Theriault was second with nine.

The visitors' Beardsley copped the 220, placed second in the 100 and long jump and ran a leg of the winning 880 relay to take meet honors with 12 1/2 points.

Southwest's outstanding miler, Greg Aubinger, won his event in 4:28.50.

Pro Athletes Eye Independent Union

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An independent labor union for all professional athletes?

That's what is in the works. The Associated Press learned Thursday.

A drive to organize professional athletes into such an organization is being spearheaded quietly around the country by

Bernie Parrish, a former Cleveland star with the Cleveland Browns and once the head of the National Football Players Association, according to a reliable source.

The movement is reportedly reaching the stage where it will be presented to the National Labor Relations Board for certification.

The union would probably be known as the National Players Association and would include players from major baseball leagues, major professional leagues, the National Basketball Association, and possibly the National Hockey League. The National Hockey League, the embryonic American Basketball League would be included if it survives.

The idea is well thought of by labor sources and several major unions, including the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, have offered to finance the organizing drive. One union reportedly offered between $50,000 and $100,000 merely to be allowed to talk to the men planning the movement.

Turned Down
The source said all labor unions have been turned down, however, because the athletes believe they have the brain power within their own ranks — the accountants and lawyers — to run the players' union.

Negro athletes, who in many instances feel they have not yet attained their full status as professional athletes, have expressed great interest in the idea. Jimmy Brown, retired fullback of the Cleveland Browns, reportedly supports the plan.

Rodriguez and Campbell Lead

Shoot '3 Under' 68s in Tourney At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two pros without a tournament victory this year share the lead in the windswept $100,000 Texas Open.

Diminutive Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, ranked 56th and 59th respectively in PGA earnings this year, shot 68s to grab the first-round lead Thursday.

But a swarm of other pros, including sixth-ranked Bert Yancey, were on the heels of the leaders with 69s. Others at one stroke off the pace were Bert Weaver, Richard Crawford, Jay Hebert and Charles Coody. Nine pros shot one-under-par 70s and 14 were even par.

Yancey, who moved to sixth in the PGA tour earnings after winning the $30,000 first place check at the Dallas Open, shot a blistering 33 on the back nine, which he played first. He cooled to even par coming home and finished a stroke behind the leaders.

Pros with sub-par rounds included Tournament of Champions winner Frank Beard, who shot a 70.

Addresses Congress

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress today the only strategy that can defeat the Communist enemy in Vietnam "is one of unrelenting military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — at all levels."

This appeared a call for increased escalation, possibly including broadened bombing of North Vietnam and commitment of more U.S. troops to battle Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Personal Report

In an unprecedented personal report to Congress by a war commander, Westmoreland described U.S. forces as "unbeatable" and said they have been successful in destroying Communist main force units.

He said, "I can assure you here and now" that the Communist stratagem called "war of national liberation" will not succeed in Vietnam.

But while speaking of a "hopeful state of affairs," the U.S. commander in Vietnam sought to dispel any idea that the Communists are near collapse.

In considerable detail, Westmoreland pictured for a joint meeting of House and Senate an enemy who has doubled his strength despite heavy battle losses, whose commanders are skilled professionals, whose troops are well trained whose primitive supply system is surprisingly effective.

"Dramatic Blow" — "I foresee that he will continue his buildup across the demilitarized zone and through Laos."

and he will attack us when he believes he has a chance for a dramatic blow," the general predicted.

"I expect the enemy to continue to increase his mortar, artillery, rocket and recoilless rifle attacks on our installations. At the same time he will step up his attacks at hamlet, village and district organizations to intimidate the people and to thwart the democratic processes now under way in South Vietnam."

Richard F. Esser, 38, of rural Arpin, and Carl Delis, 40, of rural Marshfield were killed and four other persons were injured in a car-truck collision in Wood County Thursday afternoon.

In poor condition at a Marshfield hospital were Walter Delis, 67, and his wife Beatrice. In serious condition were Kendall Delis, 3, and Joseph Esser, 2.

Wood County sheriff's authorities said a flatbed truck driven by Esser and the Delis car collided at the intersection of Wood County Trunk T and State 110 five miles southeast of Marshfield.

Both vehicles were carried over a rocky embankment.

Patricia Healy, 10, rural Frederic, was killed Thursday when she was struck by a truck while crossing Polk County Trunk I in front of her school in the town of Bone Lake.

13-Member Task Force

Dr. Tarr to Head Shared Tax Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, president of Lawrence University in Appleton, today was chosen to head a 13-

1969, the Legislature decided recently over the objections of the mayors in the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities, who had hoped for some redistribution of state taxes in their favor by the present Legislature.

A less publicized but equally important part of the Legislature's mandate to the study committee is a review of the organization of local government, and the possibility of making it a more efficient structure through the elimination of some of its smaller units.

The Tarr committee will have the authority to hire assistants and consultants. In political circles its work is regarded as likely to have the political implications of the so-called "blue ribbon" commission which wrote a program for the revision of the state revenue structure six years ago.

Named by Knowles to the Tarr committee are Mrs. A. Roy Anderson, Madison, League of Women Voters; John Jachomo, Cudahy, vice president, State AFL-CIO; Judge Thomas H. Barland, Eau Claire; Norman Gill, Milwaukee, executive director, Citizens' Governmental Research Bureau; Emil Koster, Thorp, president of Thorp Finance Co.; Richard Lorit, River Falls, vice president, Wisconsin State University-River Falls; C. K. Alexander, Madison, vice president, Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance, and James R. Morgan, state tax commissioner.

President Tarr

Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced acceptance by Tarr of the assignment, and appointment of the other members of the committee which is expected to write a program that may fundamentally alter the relationship of the state and its localities.

The committee will report in

Final Kellett Bill Vote Due by Senate Today

Oleo Repealer With Tax Set For Senators

5 1/4-Cent Levy Still on Bill, May Not Last

MADISON (AP) — Senate leaders have decided to accept a 5 1/4 cents a pound tax on colored oleomargarine rather than imperil prospects for repeal of Wisconsin's historic ban on the butter substitute.

The final struggle is slated to start Tuesday on the Senate floor. By nightfall Wednesday, the repeal bill may be on its way to the governor's desk for signature into law.

The Assembly tacked on the tax-with-a-fraction two weeks ago in passing the repealer 67-30. Senate strategists are driving for repeal without any change in the wording of the bill to avoid entangling the measure between the two houses.

A separate bill is pending in the Senate to allow sale of colored oleomargarine without any tax. Senate Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, said

Gets Life Sentence

Coppolino Found Guilty

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino was convicted of second degree murder today in the drug murder of his wife Carmela. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Coppolino sat expressionless with his head in his hands as the verdict was delivered at 9:25 a.m. after less than four hours of jury deliberation.

Mary Coppolino, the wealthy divorcee he married after Carmela's death, also sat expressionless in a front row seat just behind her husband at the defense table.

Asks New Trial

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey moved immediately for a new trial and said if the motion was denied the case would be appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

After the jury foreman, 48-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

The defeat was a stunning one for Bailey, the dynamic, 33-year-old Boston defender who sprang into national prominence when he gained a new trial that freed Dr. Sam Sheppard.

The judge ordered Coppolino taken into custody immediately and delivered to the state penitentiary at Raiford. Bailey vigorously protested the verdict as invalid and illegal and moved that Coppolino be discharged.

'All or Nothing'

"There is obviously the sort of charge where the verdict must be maximum or nothing," said Bailey. "There is no in between. From the allegation of poisoning the second degree conviction cannot stand."

Bailey said Coppolino can never be tried for first degree murder in this case again. By virtue of premeditation, he said, a poisoning case could only result in the conviction of first degree murder.

Bailey said the verdict showed compromise.

The judge denied Bailey's motion to continue Coppolino's $15,000 bail pending an appeal which must be filed within 15 days.

Coppolino, looking gaunt and shocked, conferred briefly with

Bailey and then shook his head when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

Five Verdicts

Silvertooth told the jury it could reach one of five verdicts — conviction of first, second or third degree murder or manslaughter, or an acquittal. A first degree conviction could mean death in the electric chair.

The state accused Coppolino of murdering his first wife Aug. 28, 1965 with an injection of a drug, succinylcholine, to collect her life insurance and to marry a rich divorcee.

The case went to the jury at 5:23 p.m. Thursday after 15 days of complex medical testimony breaking new legal ground in work on detection of the muscle relaxant drug.

The defense, denying that a murder was committed, said the cause of death of Coppolino's wife is unknown.

U.S. Planes Buzz Ships, Soviets Claim

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union charged today that U.S. planes buzzed Soviet ships on one of the sea routes the Russians use to supply aid to North Vietnam.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Soviet captains aboard Soviet ships had radioed reports of the buzzing to the Soviet Black Sea port near the city of Izmail.

Tass said "nothing directly about Vietnam. Izmail, however, is a key Soviet port on the Black Sea for shipping aid to Vietnam."

Informed shipping sources in the Soviet Black Sea port of Odessa said earlier this month that military aid from Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union was leaving Izmail by sea for the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

Izmail is about 100 miles southwest of Odessa near the Romanian border at the mouth of the Danube.

Killed in Action

MADISON (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Thompson of Madison have been informed that their son, Army Sp. 4 Leonard D. Thompson, 22, was killed in action Tuesday in Vietnam.

Young Thompson, who had been in Vietnam for seven months, was killed when his tank battalion was ambushed.

GOP Feels Passage of Plan Likely

MADISON (AP) — Weary after three weeks of bitter debate, the Wisconsin Senate stood today at last on the verge of passage of the Kellett bill to realign state government.

Republicans, who control the Senate, wrote their key compromise on conservation into the bill on an 18-12 party line vote Thursday that signaled the unity needed for approval of the omnibus package today.

The reorganization blueprint would repack about 90 state agencies into 27 departments and boards starting next July. The crucial question of a full merger of conservation and water agencies would be left up to the 1969 Legislature.

Democrats draped their Senate microphones in black cloth as the compromise was accepted and mapped plans for one last salvo of partisan assault today. But passage appeared certain in advance.

'Affront to Dignity'

The Senate cracked with acrimony over the Democrats' demonstration of mourning. Sen. William Draheim, R-Neenah, accused the minority party of "an affront to the dignity of the Senate."

When Senate Democratic Leader Fred Risser of Madison rose to charge the GOP with "the death of meaningful reorganization," Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, led an abbreviated Republican walk-out.

The main mergers left in the bill would link the Board of Health with the Department of Public Welfare and place the Motor Vehicle Department, the Highway Commission and the Aeronautics Commission in a new department of transportation.

A new board of natural resources would be created as a superstructure over the present conservation and resource development departments, but their rule-making powers would remain untouched. The board would draw up a merger plan to offer to the 1969 Legislature for a final decision.

The Senate was the first house in which the bill was tested. A fierce fight was expected in the Assembly also.

Began March 7
Debate on the bill had begun March 7, but was halted two days later to save the measure from immediate doom. The floor fight resumed April 11 after Gov. Warren P. Knowles made a pleas for passage of the reorganization plan.

The health and welfare merger was preserved on a slim 17-16 vote in the first week. Leonard avoided an outright

U.S. Troops Shelled by Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in South Vietnam's embattled northern sector poured artillery, mortar and rocket fire on U.S. and Vietnamese government troops overnight in some of the heaviest enemy shelling of the war.

The U.S. command said 12 American Marines were killed and 180 Marines and seven Army artillerymen were wounded in four attacks. South Vietnamese spokesmen termed their casualties light.

No enemy casualties were reported.

Limited Air Raids

Heavy clouds moved back over much of North Vietnam, limiting air attacks on the North Thursday to 48 missions. All of them were made against targets in the panhandle at the southern end of North Vietnam, sparing the Hanoi-Haiphong area after three days of heavy pounding.

While fighting flared in the northernmost 1st Corps area, the Viet Cong announced they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a.m. May 22 to 7 a.m. May 24 (Saigon time) to mark Buddha's birthday. The Saigon government had said earlier it would cease fire for 24 hours on May 23.

There was no immediate indication whether the South Vietnamese and their allies would agree to the longer cease-fire period.

U. S. Patrol Plane Down Off Japan

KITAKYUSHU, Japan (AP) — All 12 men aboard a U.S. Navy P3A patrol plane were believed to have perished today when the four-engine turboprop crashed into the sea off Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu.

Officials said the Lockheed Orion plane went down between Japan and Korea, setting off a blaze that hampered rescue efforts for more than two hours.

U.S. and Japanese search planes reported sighting pieces of wreckage, two life rafts and dye markers, but no survivors.

nam came after weeks of increasing U.S. concern over Communist moves in the five provinces that make up South Vietnam's 1st Corps area.

More Resources

In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

Except for the attacks near the border, no major ground fighting was reported across the country. But the U.S. command

Wisconsin Wire Works Starts $500,000 Expansion

Ground was broken Thursday afternoon in the Town of Greenville two miles west of Appleton for a new half million dollar Wisconsin Wire Works plant.

The building, which will contain 50,000 square feet, is scheduled for completion in five months.

State, county and company officials were on hand included James Watson, company president; Paul Pratt, Madison, director of the Division of State

Economic Development, and Joseph Megal, Milwaukee, president of the Megal Development Corp.

It was disclosed the existing Wire Works plant on Appleton's northeast side will be taken over by Megal after the new building is completed.

H. J. Fohl, Milwaukee, general sales manager for Megal, said his firm had no immediate plans for the old building.

Industrial Park
During the ceremonies, the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Outagamie County Industrial Development Corp. were hailed for helping establish what will be the nucleus of a new industrial park development in the town.

There is ample room for Wisconsin Wire Works to exand at the new site, and in addition, Megal disclosed ownership of adjoining undeveloped land for future industrial development.

The Wisconsin Wire Works plant will be located at the northeast corner of Two Mile Road and W. College Avenue extended.

Company and other officials told Outagamie County Highway Commissioner Clarence Bronston they were looking forward to his department extending the avenue from U.S. 41 west to the Two Mile Road, which is a couple of city blocks from the new airport in Greenville. The roadway already has been staked out.

The new wire works facility will include a 40,000-square-foot factory unit and a 10,000-square-foot, two-story office facility — the building to face on W. College extended. The building will be of masonry and steel construction.

Long-Term Lease
Wisconsin Wire Works apparently has worked out a long-term lease arrangement with Megal, one of the state's leading industrial park developers.

Utility Will Put New Substation Into Service

$200,000 Waupaca Facility to Boost Electrical Supply

WAUPACA — The Wisconsin Public Service Corp. (WPSC) will put a new $200,000 substation into service between 4:30 and 5 a.m. Saturday in a major step to provide the city with adequate electrical power.

Electrical service throughout the city will be disrupted approximately 30 seconds while the new station is put into use, Paul Niles, manager of the WPSC office said.

The new sub-station, located just east of Harrison Street on the northern edge of the city, will replace the old station located on the north end of Washington Street. It will improve the voltage throughout the city and handle any additional load which may be created by city expansion in the future, Niles said. The only equipment which will remain functioning at the old station will be three transformers, he said.

Through Winter
Work on the new facility started last November and continued throughout the winter.

In addition, the entire city is being converted from 4,160 to 12,000 volt lines. Changing of the voltage has already been completed in most of the southeast section of the city and work crews will be working next in the First and Fourth Wards along School Street.

Niles said the voltage change requires new transformers and re-insulating and in some cases the wire size also must be changed. The voltage change is being made to take care of any future loads on the system, Niles said. The voltage change-over in the entire city will take about a year to complete, he said.

5 Students Hurt In Bus Mishap Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — Five Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire students suffered cuts and bruises, at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, when the small bus they were riding in went out of control on County Trunk Q, six miles west of here and struck a driveway embankment.

Three of the students, including driver Michael I. Czerwinski, 22, were taken to Riverside hospital where they were examined and released after being treated for cuts and bruises.

According to county police, the youths were traveling south on County Trunk Q when Czerwinski lost control of the vehicle on a curve. The small bus was damaged extensively.

Man Jailed on Contempt Count

WAUPACA — Judge Wendell McHenry jailed a rural Weyauwega man Wednesday for contempt of court when he refused to sign papers pertaining to a property settlement following a recent divorce action.

Victor Fronzak, 62, route 2, Weyauwega, was ordered taken to the county jail and held after he refused to sign the papers Wednesday morning in the judge's chambers. Fronzak and his former wife appeared Wednesday in County Court to sign final property settlement papers.

A New $200,000 Sub-Station constructed in Waupaca by the Wisconsin Public Service Corp., will be put into operation between 4:30 and 5 a.m., Saturday. Electrical service in the city will be disrupted for approximately 30 seconds while the switch to the new station is made. Workmen are making the final adjustments to the station before it is put into use. The station will provide adequate electrical power for future growth of the city. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Stockbridge Board Urges 'No' Vote on Detachment Order

$1.3 Million Territory Subject Of Referendum Vote Tuesday

STOCKBRIDGE — The board of education has urged a "no" vote in Tuesday's referendum vote on an order of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 10 to detach a portion of the Stockbridge School district, with a $1.3 million valuation, south of County Trunk F and attach it to Chilton.

The order would be effective July 1. School board officials were asked to make their position public by a citizens' committee.

Board members said they were elected by a majority and they "were going along with the wishes of the majority, not the minority," pointing out that at a public meeting March 4, 170 district electors voted to retain the Stockbridge district while only 18 favored consolidation with Chilton.

Giving rise to the school consolidation controversy was the CESA school committee action March 6 which ordered the southern portion of the Stockbridge district attached to Chilton.

Vote Forced
Since the order was issued, a petition to bring the order to a referendum vote test was circulated in the area affected by the detachment and the Chilton district and received 600 signatures.

Last Thursday the Chilton Board of Education publicly urged a "yes" vote confirming CESA's order and stating its reasons for wanting the area south of County Trunk F.

An advertisement listing 7 points why a "Yes" vote was urged placed by a citizen group has brought a retaliation from the Stockbridge citizen committee which mailed 9,500 letters to electors in the detached area and entire Chilton district.

The envelopes contain two letters, one explaining that without the $1.3 valuation area dissolution of the entire Stockbridge district will result. The letters urged a "No" vote.

Not Democratic
Board members read the letter but did not act on each point. They said they wanted to stress that they didn't believe CESA's order was democratic, though they agreed the committee had acted within the statutes. A member of the citizens committee said, "How many know what it is about? We have no hope of representation on that board and it's not democracy if you can't vote."

Speaking of the Chilton board's announcement, one said, "They have a right to their opinion but not ours. We're expected to listen."

Stockbridge members voiced their opinions that detachment of the area affects the entire district. "It's like cutting off your water supply. We're going to die of thirst. Stockbridge school will close."

Student March
Supervising Principal Paul Dobias asked the board's opinion on a student march planned for Saturday in Chilton. The panel agreed not to sanction such action. If students wanted to march carrying placards urging a "No" vote it was up to the individuals and their parents.

Since CESA's order three petitions from the northeast area to detach and attach to Chilton have been filed. Petitioners are from the area which was previously denied attachment. School officials will attend the hearing May 15 in Chilton.

The democratic principles of getting together to talk things over and the possibility that legislators did not fully understand the laws which have been created were discussed. "There is not always efficiency or economy in largeness," one said.

New London Firms Prepare to Move
Kawall Motors Vacates Site For New Savings and Loan

NEW LONDON — Kawall Motors Inc. will be at a new location Monday and New London Savings and Loan will have started preparatory work for a new office building in related expansion programs.

The auto agency will move to new quarters south of the city on U.S. 45, while the Savings and Loan will begin razing the present garage and showroom for its new building.

Norman Kawall said the new quarters wouldn't be completed for another 45-60 days because car hoists and an overhead door were stalled in Chicago by the trucker's strike. The materials are still in Chicago, "presumably on one of the docks," he said.

Unavoidable Delay
A representative of Ted C. Fischer, Appleton, general contractor, said it was impossible to complete concrete work inside the building without the hoists being installed first.

Robert H. Laux, Savings and Loan representative, said Herman F. Gagnow, New London, would begin razing the Kawall building Saturday and that construction was scheduled to begin May 8.

Local Architect
Henry C. Miles Jr., New London, was the architect for the new building. Contractors were Fischer, general construction; Du-Rite Plumbing, New London, plumbing and heating; and Koplien Electric, Weyauwega, electrical work.

Raeuber and Petri Inc., Manitowish, designed the 40 by 83 foot Savings and Loan office building which will be constructed of brick. The building will include a 20 by 40 foot basement.

The total cost is estimated at $150,000 which includes lot, black topping of drives and parking area, the building and equipment. Completion date has been set for early fall.

Contractors are R. Smith, Appleton, general; Towne Inc., Appleton, heating; Lindsey Heating and Plumbing, Green Bay, plumbing, and Langstadt's Inc., Appleton, electrical.

Expanded service to customers will be made possible by both of the new buildings and facilities.

Back Clintonville Utility Extension
CLINTONVILLE — Six property owners, involved in a proposed utility installation, supported a project including 780 feet of sewer lines and 1,180 feet of water mains at a public hearing Wednesday evening.

There was no opposition. The project will be on Anee Street from N. Park Street to the north city limits.

Those appearing at the hearing, required by statutes, were Milton Beverniz, Fred Schley, representing Mrs. Arthur Schoenike; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wicker, who recently purchased property in the area, and Kenneth Wege.

Youth Runs Gamut in Half Day
Vietnam Must Go Some To Top Farewell Action

A car wreck, a jail stay, a fine, a driver's license revocation and off to Vietnam — all in half a day.

Richard Kirvan's unfortunate turn of events on his last few hours of leave from the armed service began when his 1962 auto left State 96, a mile west of Little Chute, and snapped off a power pole about 3:30 a.m. Thursday.

An Outagamie County patrolman, informed of the accident about 3:50 a.m., found Kirvan, 19, of 719 Lawe St., Kaukauna, sleeping in the damaged auto which had been moved some distance from the accident scene. Kirvan was westbound when the car left the road. The auto sustained about $600 damage, police said.

The patrolman brought Kirvan to the sheriff's office and booked him for driving after his license was revoked. The youth was jailed until his court appearance some four hours later.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, after accepting a guilty plea, fined Kirvan $50 and costs and ordered his driver's license revoked for another year.

Kirvan, who reportedly had been serving in Germany, was to leave this afternoon for Vietnam duty.

Chilton Groups
Masons, K of Cs Join In Brotherhood Dinner

CHILTON — About 100 Knights of Columbus (K of Cs) and Masons joined in their first dinner and cocktail get-together at the Altona, New Holstein, Wednesday.

Robert Bodden, Platteville, a past K of C state deputy was guest speaker. Bodden talked on "Bridge of Brotherhood." He told the group, "working together in tolerance and brotherhood we can have a better, richer and fuller life for all."

He went on to say that intolerance is an acquired trait, not learned in the classroom, but around the dinner table.

Bodden said "Brotherhood really encompasses education, involving the act of teaching

our children, and based upon the truth spelled out in our Bill of Rights and religion, in that it is based upon the "golden rule."

It was decided by the K of C's and Masons that they should make this get-together an annual event.

Robert Lutz served as master of ceremonies. Guests included Leo Evertz, state K of C deputy from Appleton, and Paul Smiths, district K of C deputy from Kimberly.

Ken Dickrell of the K of C and Robert Larson of the Masons were chairmen for the event.

Valley Group Gives Rule to Elected Officers
New Council Will Make Region Eligible For Federal Bonuses

MENASHA — Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission members Thursday night unanimously accepted revised articles of agreement which would change the organization to the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

The change would place control of the organization exclusively in the hands of elected officials. At the present time, there are some citizen members including the chairman and vice chairman.

Councils and boards of the 12 member cities, villages and towns will have to approve the change before it is effective and a tentative time limit of 30 days was placed on the council proposal, for action by municipal governing bodies.

There was some hesitation to act on the proposal at the annual commission meeting at the Hotel Menasha. The commission executive committee had asked the group to include elected officials from all municipalities, including school boards. Using a definition of municipalities from state statutes, membership would have been open to cities, villages, towns and school boards.

Kaukauna Man Bound Over to Circuit Court

No date was set for the Circuit Court appearance. Frank is free under $1,000 bond.

Waupaca County Offices
Students Participate in Government

WAUPACA — Seventy High school students from throughout Waupaca County had an opportunity to have a first-hand look at how county government functions here Thursday during County Government Day.

The sixth annual event was sponsored by the American Legion posts of the county along with the auxiliaries and the county council of the American Legion.

Students participating in the program were elected to the various county offices by their classmates in local school elections. Schools participating were Iola-Scandinavia, Manawa, Weyauwega, Waupaca, New London, Marion and Clintonville.

Registration got underway at 9 a.m. and, after the students received their oath of office from Judge Wendell McHenry, the court room in operation was explained by the judge, Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson, Clerk of Courts Orin Stevenson and Sheriff William Mork.

Before breaking for lunch at the First Methodist Church, the students were given a tour of the new Waupaca County Jail.

Guest speaker at the luncheon was Glenn D. Tinkham, Marshfield, president of Badger Boys State. Tinkham pointed out the importance of youth today and how they should look forward to keeping America free and a better country to live in. "You are not future citizens, as so often referred to, but you are citizens today," the Badger Boys State president told the group.

Tinkham told the students they should obtain as much information as possible about county government during the day-long program and after leaving they should keep abreast of government affairs in an effort to be a better citizen.

"As youths, what you do and say does count now and you should be informed and take an interest in what is happening to your fellow man and country," Tinkham said.

Office Briefing
Students returned to the courthouse following the luncheon where they went to the office to which they were elected and were given a briefing on the purpose and functions of the office. County board procedure was explained to the students by County Board Chairman Carl E. Sturm and County Clerk Robert Backer.

At a general assembly before the students returned home, each was presented a certificate of participation.

In addition to the elected students who attended the program, four foreign exchange students were also present and took part in the day's activities. They were Shin Ito from Japan, attending New London High School; Perylla Soares, Brazil, attending Clintonville High School; Carlos Ricciardi, Argentina, Waupaca High School, and Ngo Khoa Ba, South Vietnam, attending Marion High School.

The committee in charge of making arrangements for the program consisted of Frank Smith, county veterans service officer; Mrs. Jack Abraham, Fremont, county auxiliary president, and Gordon Bachman, Weyauwega, first vice commander of the American Legion County Council.

Waupaca County Offices
Students Participate in Government

WAUPACA — Seventy High school students from throughout Waupaca County had an opportunity to have a first-hand look at how county government functions here Thursday during County Government Day.

The sixth annual event was sponsored by the American Legion posts of the county along with the auxiliaries and the county council of the American Legion.

Students participating in the program were elected to the various county offices by their classmates in local school elections. Schools participating were Iola-Scandinavia, Manawa, Weyauwega, Waupaca, New London, Marion and Clintonville.

Registration got underway at 9 a.m. and, after the students received their oath of office from Judge Wendell McHenry, the court room in operation was explained by the judge, Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson, Clerk of Courts Orin Stevenson and Sheriff William Mork.

Before breaking for lunch at the First Methodist Church, the students were given a tour of the new Waupaca County Jail.

Guest speaker at the luncheon was Glenn D. Tinkham, Marshfield, president of Badger Boys State. Tinkham pointed out the importance of youth today and how they should look forward to keeping America free and a better country to live in. "You are not future citizens, as so often referred to, but you are citizens today," the Badger Boys State president told the group.

Tinkham told the students they should obtain as much information as possible about county government during the day-long program and after leaving they should keep abreast of government affairs in an effort to be a better citizen.

"As youths, what you do and say does count now and you should be informed and take an interest in what is happening to your fellow man and country," Tinkham said.

Office Briefing
Students returned to the courthouse following the luncheon where they went to the office to which they were elected and were given a briefing on the purpose and functions of the office. County board procedure was explained to the students by County Board Chairman Carl E. Sturm and County Clerk Robert Backer.

At a general assembly before the students returned home, each was presented a certificate of participation.

In addition to the elected students who attended the program, four foreign exchange students were also present and took part in the day's activities. They were Shin Ito from Japan, attending New London High School; Perylla Soares, Brazil, attending Clintonville High School; Carlos Ricciardi, Argentina, Waupaca High School, and Ngo Khoa Ba, South Vietnam, attending Marion High School.

The committee in charge of making arrangements for the program consisted of Frank Smith, county veterans service officer; Mrs. Jack Abraham, Fremont, county auxiliary president, and Gordon Bachman, Weyauwega, first vice commander of the American Legion County Council.

Masons, K of Cs Join In Brotherhood Dinner

CHILTON — About 100 Knights of Columbus (K of Cs) and Masons joined in their first dinner and cocktail get-together at the Altona, New Holstein, Wednesday.

Robert Bodden, Platteville, a past K of C state deputy was guest speaker. Bodden talked on "Bridge of Brotherhood." He told the group, "working together in tolerance and brotherhood we can have a better, richer and fuller life for all."

He went on to say that intolerance is an acquired trait, not learned in the classroom, but around the dinner table.

Bodden said "Brotherhood really encompasses education, involving the act of teaching

our children, and based upon the truth spelled out in our Bill of Rights and religion, in that it is based upon the "golden rule."

It was decided by the K of C's and Masons that they should make this get-together an annual event.

Robert Lutz served as master of ceremonies. Guests included Leo Evertz, state K of C deputy from Appleton, and Paul Smiths, district K of C deputy from Kimberly.

Ken Dickrell of the K of C and Robert Larson of the Masons were chairmen for the event.

Chilton Gets Details On Housing Project
Brillion Authority Chairman Lists Steps on Securing Low-Cost Units

CHILTON — Ray Klieber, chairman of the Brillion Housing Authority explained some of the steps that city has taken in acquiring housing for the elderly, to members of the common council, planning commission and Chamber of Commerce at the city hall, Thursday.

The council invited Klieber to talk to the combined groups after the chamber had urged action on the problem of housing for the elderly.

Klieber said Brillion, which started its housing project about two years ago and hopes to have it completed within the next year, finds "it's a slow process."

Brillion's plan is to establish a 32-unit housing facility at the cost of approximately $400,000.

Klieber explained that the housing for the elderly is a federally subsidized project, entirely managed by a group of approximately five local people, known as a "housing authority."

This non-paid group works with the mayor to maintain a liaison with the city.

He explained the theory that elderly people, widows and widowers can rent small apartments at reasonable rates, and thereby sell their homes to average working people, with families, who otherwise could not find housing.

The first step, he said, is to contact the Department of Housing and Development (HUD), Chicago, which sends a representative to determine if the city would qualify for such a housing unit. The local housing authority does the necessary paper work to get on the priority list for federal approval.

HUD is authorized to make loans for planning and construction, and to pay annual contributions to local authorities.

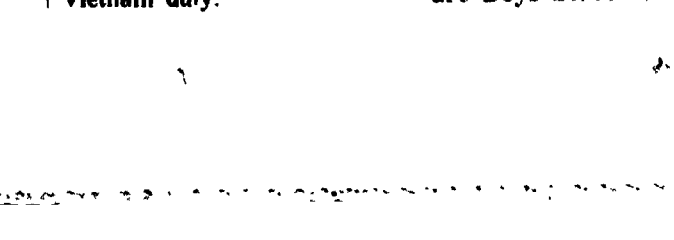

Local governments make one of their contributions by exempting the project from taxation. However, he said, the projects usually do make payments in lieu of taxes. Through these payments the low-rent projects bear a fair share of the cost of municipal services.

Sell Bonds
The permanent financing of a project is through the sale of long-term bonds, secured by a pledge of annual contribution by the HUD in an amount sufficient to cover payment of principal and interest on the bonds. Maintenance and operating expenses are paid by the rent and the subsidy of the federal government.

William Hertel, chamber president, introduced Leonard Wayman of Wayman and Catlin, Architects and Engineers of Chicago, who showed slides of housing developments they have planned, including a three-acre, 50-unit housing development to be built in Plymouth.

Hertel asked the council to give some consideration to initiating a plan of this type in Chilton.

The start of new plants and industrial expansions in the Fox Cities region in recent months has run counter-trend to the slowdown in the national economy, a state official indicated here Thursday.

Paul A. Pratt, director of the Division of State Economic Development, flew in from Madison to help break ground for the new Wisconsin Wire Works plant in the Town of Greenville.

"It is quite surprising," Pratt said. "There have been quite a number of developments in Appleton and the Fox Cities region."

Pratt said the possibility for a general upturn in industrial expansion has been brightened by the fact there is growing evidence of plans for a proposed federal tax increase dissipating.

Encourages Expansion

Pratt, whose department coined the slogan—"We Like It Here"—and works with many contacts in getting new industry to come to Wisconsin, and have existing ones expand, read off a list of regional industrial development projects.

He called attention to the addition being constructed for Appleton Coated Paper Co., the new 110 by 84 foot Wisconsin Wire Works plant, a Circle Machine Co. expansion, added multi-million dollar facilities being installed by Combined Paper Mills, recent acquisition of city-owned property by Pierce Auto Body Works to enlarge its facilities, the Fox River Tractor Co. expansion, recent large capital investments in the Appleton plant of Allis Chalmers Co. and the start of the new multi-million dollar Riverside Paper Corp. converting plant on Appleton's southeast side last week.

"It is tangible evidence of continued faith by industry in the community and the State of Wisconsin," Pratt declared.

Bubolz Warns of Need For Recreation Areas

Wolf River Chairman Forecasts Use of Eminent Domain to Save Recreation Land

SHAWANO — Members of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission were urged "to provide for the fast-growing recreational needs of our people," by chairman Gordon A. Bubolz, Appleton, at the quarterly meeting Thursday at the Club Continental.

Bubolz said the commission will "try to prevent unwise and destructive use of shorelands." He cited progress made in northern counties but said there is a serious problem in the urban areas of Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

Space Short

"It's getting to the point where unless you use eminent domain for public recreation property, the people will be deprived of the facilities," Bubolz said. "Unless we take a serious look at this, we're going to find the southern urban counties of this region facing the same problems as the southeastern portion of the state."

William Morris, executive director of the commission, urged commissioners to "stay ahead of technological advances." "We can expect to rebuild all the facilities we have in the United States during the next 35 years," Morris said.

He said the commission is considering the possibility of a "visitor center" in Menominee County, on the Wolf River south of Keshena. The center might include motels, shops and a museum, he said.

"Governmental units are not fully aware of the services available through the commission," Morris added. Consequently, a traveling display is being prepared which will be the Town of Menasha, moved to strike from the articles of agreement the provision for school board membership.

After some debate, commissioners decided that the school board provisions should be removed, and included at a later date if deemed necessary.

Federal Stipulation

The council of governments would make it possible for municipalities which are members of the organization to receive additional federal grants for construction projects. The federal Metropolitan Development Act stipulates that in order to receive the bonuses, municipalities must be members of an urban area-wide planning program and the program must be run by elected officials.

The change could be accepted even though all the member governments don't approve it. Risley said, however, "I think we'd have a problem if any one of the 12 communities voted it down. I don't feel we can get along without any one of our constituent municipalities."

Present members are cities of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, and Menasha; villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly, and Little Chute, and towns of Buchanan, Grand Chute, Harrison, Menasha and Neenah.

Three-Week Layoff at Stokely Firm Halted

30 Employees Return to Job This Morning; Most Acreage for Planting Still Available

A three-week layoff of 35 workers at Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., Appleton, ended this morning as approximately 30 of the employees reported for work at 8 a.m., according to V. E. Quakenbush, plant manager.

The workers were laid off April 7 after contract negotiations broke down between the firm, which is headquartered in at Breese Hall but whose home is at Juneau, Wis., faced a charge of possessing marijuana in County Court Branch 3 last Thursday. His and Miss Christi's arrest both resulted from the same incident Jan. 31, Dist. Atty. Thomas Fink said. Fink has refused to describe the incident.

Among Possessions

Police officials became aware of the incident when Miss Christi admitted herself to Winnebago State Hospital Feb. 3. Marijuana was found among her possessions. Miss Christi told police of attending parties where marijuana was used.

Winnebago County Police officials said recently that they believe LSD also is being used at the university, but said use of LSD is not against the law.

Miss Christi pleaded no contest March 14. She was adjudged guilty and released on $500 bond. A pre-sentence investigation was made while she returned to her home.

Evans was to face a preliminary examination this afternoon. His bond is set at $5,000.

Maximum penalty for possessing marijuana is five years in prison.
